LIBEL CHARGE SPLITS BOARD

Has Daly City Been Forgotten Again?

Once again the powers-that-be are turning a cold shoulder on the northern half of San Mateo county, and Daly City in particular.

This time the Board of Supervisors, who often have to be reminded that Daly City is in the county, have abolished our local courts.

Under a new court plan the police court in Daly City will be a thing of the past by 1953. After that, all matters concerning parking meter violations, other minor and major police cases, and local legal questions will have to be referred to South San Francisco.

Daly City will be without judicial representation in the county. Local taxpayers will be dishing out dollars for a court many miles from home.

There is nothing wrong with a centralized court system; but only as long as it does not harm the people it is to serve. And that is just what the new court system is going to do to the people of Daly City—it is leaving them out in the cold.

We recommend that the board of supervisors take another long look at the northern half of the county. They may be surprised to learn that the population here is growing faster than any other section of the county. They will discover that more than ever before Daly City needs a court. It does not appear reasonable that 20,000 or more persons should be without any legal representation.

We would recommend that the Board of Supervisors consider either a full time, or at least part time justice of the peace court for Daly City. Not only could this court serve Daly City, Broadmoor, Colma, Westlake and Brisbane, but it also would be much closer for the ever growing Coastside population.

The time has come for the men in Redwood City to look to the north. It is certain that residents, deprived of a court, soon will be looking for new men to fill those posts in the south.

Write the Board of Supervisors today. Demand what is justly yours—a justice of the peace court for Daly City.

CITY ADOPTS NEW DEPT. SETUP

Members Named To Recreation Board

Two major changes in city government were made at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night.

First was the appointment of a recreation commission. The commission, first in Daly City, will direct the growing recreation activities here.

Named to the board for three year terms were: George Pingry, 8 Cliffs drive; Ed Cavagnaro, 428 Irvington Avenue; Mrs. Ann Eason, 924 Hanover Street. Two year appointments were James Hinds, 185 E. Vista Avenue and Edward J. Dennis, 156 Mateo Avenue.

City Shuffle

There also was a shuffle in the public works department. The position of superintendent of streets was abolished and Dave Caferata was named as working street foreman to supervise repair of streets.

Gus Ford was appointed working foreman of the water department.

A. J. Bodien who until now has held both these jobs in conjunction with his position of superintendent of public works will hereafter have Ford in his department. Caferata will be responsible only to Dan Andersen, city manager.

Rezoning Hearing

A hearing was set for June 11 at 8 p.m. to hear any protests on rezoning the properties adjoining the Silver Saddle resort from residential to commercial. The application was made by R. H. Bridgman and W. J. Zappettini.

Other business before the council included authorization of payment to: Ralph Larsen & Son, $5,253 for part payment of the Community Center Building; R. A. Klassen, $1,515 for engineering work on the installation and inspection of a water main crossing on Junipero Serra Avenue.

Parking Watchmen Several Meters To Be Removed

Parking meters soon will be removed from several Daly City side streets.

The city council decided to take out the meters following a survey which showed they were doing residents and merchants more harm than good. It was noted that there is not enough traffic on the streets to warrant the meters.

The meters will be removed from School Street between San Pedro Road and Rainier Street; on Wellington Street from Irvington east; and completely off Flournoy.

None of the nickel and penny catchers will be removed from Mission Street.

Meanwhile, at the request of the Daly City Business Men's Organization, City Manager Dan Andersen will meet with local merchants Tuesday evening, May 22, to talk over the problem of meters. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in city hall.

All interested business men and residents are invited to attend.

NORTH COUNTY GET NEW POLITICOS

New Representatives To Be Elected Shortly

Daly City, Colma and other north county cities will have direct representation in the state assembly under the terms of the reapportionment bills signed by Governor Earl Warren this week.

The bills entitle San Mateo County to two assemblymen instead of the present one and its own representative to Congress.

The line which divides the county into two assembly districts begins at the ocean just north of Half Moon Bay, cuts across the Spring Valley Lakes below Hillsborough, swings south to 19th Avenue in San Mateo and runs east to the Southern Pacific tracks. It then follows the tracks north to Peninsula Avenue and turns east to the bay.

This will place in the north district, along with Daly City and Colma, half of San Mateo, all of Burlingame, Hillsborough, Millbrae, Loma Park, San Bruno, South San Francisco and the north Coastside. The other district will include all of the county south of the line of demarcation.

Base Of Change

The changes voted into law were based on population gains in the state as shown by the 1950 census. At present the county's assemblyman is Richard Dolwig and Congressman for the eighth district, of which San Mateo County is part, is Jack Z. Anderson. Under the new setup the north half of the county will vote for its own assemblyman as will the south half.

In view of the new post to be filled, political organizations already have been busy. Insiders believe that Louis Dematteis, county district attorney, is the likely Democratic candidate for the new congressional seat, and either Dolwig or State Senator Harry Parkman as the probable Republican choice.

Others mentioned as possible contenders include Democrats Edward R. McDonald of Burlingame, county supervisor, and James J. Kehoe, San Mateo postmaster.

DOUBLE SESSIONS THREATEN SCHOOL

"Yes" Vote Needed To Combat Threat

All residents of the greater Jefferson High School district today were urged to vote "Yes," Friday, May 18, for a bond issue to build more classrooms.

Money from the bond issue will be used to purchase sites, and to build a new high school on Skyline Boulevard near Pedro Road.

The necessity of passing the bond issue is based on the ever increasing enrollment at Jefferson High School. Unless new rooms are constructed, the student body will be forced to accept double sessions in the next one to two years. The present enrollment at the overcrowded school is 950. By 1953 this is expected to be doubled.

As for the cost of building the new high school, taxpayers will pay no more than an additional two cents a day, Peter Markovich, high school board member, said today.

"If you value the education of your children, both in the high schools and in the elementary schools, you will cast a 'yes' vote this Friday," Markovich said.

Generally, you will cast your ballot at the school nearest your home. Those who are unable to reach the polls are asked to contact Markovich who will find means of supplying transportation.

PLaza 5-2262 is the number to call for a ride to the polls.

Sons Of Italy Picnic Set Sunday

Members of the Order of Sons of Italy in America from all sections of the state will migrate to San Mateo County next Sunday, May 20, for their annual picnic, sponsored by the Grand Lodge of California.

Nearly 3,000 members, their families and friends are expected to turn out for the annual outing of the fraternal group, according to Donato Ferrigno, grand venerable.

The picnic will be held at New Ortolano ark, near Woodside. It will be the biggest open air event of the year for the society.

Vincenzo Melella, grand secretary announced that a variety of traditional picnic games, contests, athletic events and dancing have been arranged for the entertainment of the merry-makers.

Heading up the committee in charge of details are: Charles S. Cutrona, Charles Palazzolo, Guido Comolli, Angelo Licciardello.

Police Round Up Two Stray Horses In Colma

Without regard to local traffic ordinances, two horses were seeking the wide open spaces early Tuesday morning in the vicinity of Market and Mission Streets, Colma.

Police were summoned and they quickly rounded-up the strays and headed back on the old trail towards the Hollywood Riding Stables.

School Board Splits Wide Open On Resignation Of School Superintendent

A libel suit against a school board trustee was pending today following the resignation Tuesday of James Snell, superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Mrs. Helen Cheatham, school board member, said today she was "planning a libel suit" against Mike Callan, her fellow board member. She said the suit will be based on the alleged statement of Callan's that she was trying to get rid of Snell and was instrumental in his resignation.

WHO ORDERED FENCE WORK?

Mystery Surrounds Westlake School Fence

Who authorized the construction of an approximately $5,000 redwood fence around the new Westlake School grounds?

That is the question today to which Mrs. Helen Cheatham, school board member, is seeking to find the answer. It is also one of the questions (although not the major one) which many believed resulted in the resignation of James Snell, superintendent of schools.

Order Given

An order to put up the fence was given by someone a few hours after a storm blew tons of sand into nearby adjoining Westlake homes. The request for the fence, or some similar windbreak, was made by George Gibson, president of the Westlake Improvement Association.

Mike Callan and Andrew Van Der Werf, school board trustees, Monday evening said that it was their "opinion" that such a fence was necessary. They said the emergency was such that the fence had to be constructed without calling a special meeting of the school board. They noted they had tried to reach Mrs. Cheatham the day the decision was made to put up the fence, but she was out of town.

While both men said it was their opinion that the fence should be constructed, neither admitted giving the order to Loyal Ingersoll, local builder, to put up the structure.

No Comment

When asked by The Record reporter as to who had authorized the action, Snell noted that the question had been brought up after the regular school board meeting had adjourned. "Therefore, it is not my place to answer that question now."

Hot Climate

Snell, who resigned at a special meeting of the board Tuesday, said the "climate" of the district was such that he had best step down from his position. He noted that he plans to take a teaching job in Alameda and secure his doctorate degree at the University of California.

It was evident that the resignation was based on a split of the three man school board. Snell went on to say that "rather than have Daly City go through another fight over a superintendent, I believe it best to resign."

It was just three years ago that Richard Crane resigned the post Snell took over July 1, 1948. Crane's resignation was based on a somewhat similar school board controversy.

Open Fight

The board fight was brought out into the open today when Mrs. Cheatham said she would sue Callan for libel. She declined to say when she would bring suit, or what attorney was representing her.

Her decision to sue was based on a debate held at the school shortly after the regular meeting had adjourned Tuesday. During the course of the talk Walter Rector, local insurance man, asked Callan: "Why did Snell resign?"

Callan allegedly replied: "One woman was out to get rid of two men, and now she has succeeded."

Mrs. Cheatham asserts the "one woman" refers to herself. She also said she was the board member referred to in another supposed statement of Callan: "A board member published news in a paper discriminatory to another member." (Callan directed attention to a letter published in The Record last week in which Mrs. Cheatham took issue with the district's construction of a fence in Westlake.)

Legal Basis

These statements, coupled with other alleged statements made by Callan "before and after the meeting" will be the basis for Mrs. Cheatham's libel suit, she said.

Contacted today, Callan said he had "no comment." He added: "Everything I said was the truth, if she can defeat the truth that's fine."

Mrs. Cheatham also gave the alleged explanation to the resignation April 26 of Hugh Falconer, assistant to Snell, the "second man" mentioned by Callan.

"Mr. Falconer was hired as an assistant to Mr. Snell while our school building program was being planned," Mrs. Cheatham said.

Program Finished

Who Will Win?

Close Contest Expected Friday In Two School Board Elections

One of the closest school board races in many years is predicted for this Friday, May 18.

Running for one position on the Jefferson Elementary School board are the following candidates:

Incumbent Andrew Van Der Werf, 80 Miriam, Daly City.

Ruth Macdonald Fisher, 727 Washington street, Broadmoor.

Claude Hanrahan, 932 Bradley Drive, Broadmoor.

Thomas Jenkins, 1148 Nimitz Drive, Broadmoor.

In the Jefferson High School contest for two seats on the school board are:

Incumbent Thomas Callan of Colma.

Loyal Ingersoll, local contractor.

Myron F. Heggum, 142 Thiers street.

Guy Kitson, Edgemar.

Statements by some of the candidates will be found elsewhere in The Record.

DC Woman Receives Award In Japan

YOKOHAMA, Japan, May 17.—Miss Aldyth C. Fox of 191 Acton St., Daly City, was recently presented a Certificate of Achievement in recognition of the outstanding service performed while serving first as civilian chief of Manpower Branch and later as a similar position with the organization and manpower branch of control division in the Ordnance Section, Japan Logistical Command.

The certificate was presented by Lt. Col. Harold G. Penny, Comptroller, Yokohama Command.

The commendation read in part, "She completed with distinction all projects having to do with organization, manpower utilization and studies and plans for the reorganization of the Ordnance Section to effect a consolidation with the operations of the 229th Ordnance Base Depot."

Miss Fox has been in Japan since July, 1948, and is assigned to duty as Organization and Methods Examiner, Management Division, Comptroller's Office. She formerly served with the U. S. Engineer Department in Alaska, Canada and Okinawa.

Snell Resignation

Jenkins Regrets Supt. Action

Tom Jenkins, local attorney and candidate for trustee, Jefferson Elementary School Board, commented today on the resignation of Superintendent James L. Snell.

"The departure of Mr. Snell, a well liked, capable administrator, who is doing an excellent job, will be a great loss to the district. It is apparent that the need for a school board which can work in harmony with their superintendent is greater than ever. The board is now faced with the tremendous responsibility of securing a replacement for Mr. Snell. The educational future of our district is dependent upon their selection."

"The election of a new trustee on Friday, May 18, is, therefore, of vital importance. It is incumbent upon every voter, for the protection of the interests of the children of the area, to carefully consider the qualifications of the candidates for trustee and to select a person who will clearly and logically face school problems without resort to emotional or personal bias."

Mr. Jenkins is an attorney practicing both in San Francisco and San Mateo county, retiring president of the Broadmoor Property Owners' Association, a former teacher, officer of the James L. Snell PTA and chairman of the Jefferson Elementary and Jefferson High School Bond Campaigns, as well as being active as Judge Advocate of American Legion Post No. 824.

Annual Novena In Honor Of Our Lady Of Perpetual Help Begins This Sunday

The annual novena in honor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help will begin this Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church and continue through May 28.

The services will be conducted by Rev. Vincent Carroll of the Archdiocese missioners.

Rev. James Bergin, pastor, announces that daily Mass will be at 6:30 and 8:30 and novena services will be conducted each evening at 8 o'clock.

SCHOOL BOARD CANDIDATES SPEAK

Following are statements of candidates for the Jefferson High School and Jefferson Elementary School Board elections this Friday. Candidates who are not represented here failed to turn in any material to The Record.

Callan Stands For Better Schools

Thomas J. Callan, incumbent Jefferson High School District trustee, today reiterated his stand against any form of inadequate school facilities.

The well known Jefferson High School District board member requested voters return him to office this Friday, May 18, so he may continue his successful campaign against double sessions for the high school.

He pointed out that during his three year term of office no high school student has been cheated of full time education.

"There is no question about it," Callan said today. "Our form of life can only prosper and continue in a community where the high school students are given an opportunity for a complete education."

Callan said he will continue to urge the construction of additional class rooms to meet the ever increasing enrollment at the high school. He also observed that he was working with the other board members on plans to take care of the numerous new students in Westlake and Broadmoor, as well as Daly City.

With two daughters as experienced school teachers in Redwood City and San Francisco respectively, Callan observed he can judge the qualifications of teachers, and has more than the average school board member's interest in the teachers and students' welfare.

"As long as I am on the board I will see that the district hires only the finest teachers in the Bay Area," Callan asserted.

Looking at the financial aspects of the school district, Callan noted that he is a retired business man with more than 40 years of experience. He is in a position to both save and spend the taxpayers' money wisely for school interests.

Unlike any other candidate seeking a position on the board this Friday, Callan devotes full time to the job. As he is retired, he can bring his many years of experience and education to the other board members.

"But regardless of how you vote, be sure to cast a ballot this Friday," Callan urged.

Mrs. Fisher Urges All To Vote May 18

This past week I have met numerous people who did not know that we are having an election, Friday, May 18.

For those of you who have not been reached, please take note that this is a very vital election. It concerns our schools and how they are to be managed.

Please take note of this important function of Democracy. Please exert your prerogative, that of your vote. Make it heard. I appeal to you to remember that our vote is our privilege.

Be sure and vote so as to make sure.

Sincerely yours,
Ruth Macdonald Fisher

Jefferson Elementary School District

Hanrahan Calls For "Harmony"

Claude E. Hanrahan, candidate for trustee of the Jefferson Elementary School District, today urged all registered voters to cast their ballot in Friday's school election.

Stressing the need for harmony among the members of the school board, his supporters cite the fact that Mr. Hanrahan is the only candidate with children presently attending school in the Jefferson Elementary School District. This, his supporters feel, gives him a clearer insight into the educational needs of the children of the district by constant contact with the products of our system.

His educational and business background well qualify him to assume this all-important position.

Born and raised in San Francisco, he earned his A. B. Degree and California State teaching credentials at San Francisco State college. After this he attended Stanford University two years where he obtained a Masters Degree in Education. After teaching at Lincoln High School in San Francisco he enlisted in the U. S. Navy at the outset of World War II.

With his educational background he was assigned to the University of California at Los Angeles as a teacher of naval science and tactics specializing in

Troop 20 Honors Mothers At Dinner

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 20 honored their mothers at a mother-daughter dinner, Friday evening, May 11, at the Colma Community Center.

Under the direction of the leader, Mrs. Dagny Golladay and assistant leaders, Mrs. Ann Chiappella and Mrs. Dorothy Stoekey, the girls prepared and served a delicious dinner.

Each girl presented her mother with a wall plaque which they had painted and decorated.

Following dinner the girls entertained their mothers with a pantomime play entitled "Snow-White and the Seven Dwarfs," and a folk-dance. They taught their mothers how to do a singing game, "Down in the Paw-Paw Patch."

As a surprise to the troop, the mothers pinned a "World Friendship" pin on each girl.

Guests for the evening were: Mrs. L. Pancost, Mrs. M. Gianni, Mrs. G. Cortesi, Mrs. P. Shreve, Mrs. Joan Tomlinson, Mrs. P. Betschowa, Mrs. P. Guisti, Mrs. G. Bertucci, Mrs. Helene Vidal, Mrs. Marjorie Fair, Mr. Ladene Imperatrice, Mrs. Mary Grassini, Mrs. Bollenfieri, Mrs. J. Tebeau, Mrs. Florinda Martinielli, and Mrs. R. Bertucci.

Hostesses were: Sheila Pancost, Barbara Gianni, Ellen Cortesi, Barbara Coltrin, Phyllis Tomlinson, Jessie Betschowa, Barbara

navigation and mathematics.

At the war's end he assumed plant management of a large San Francisco industrial plant and is presently serving in that capacity with supervision over 200 men.

Mr. Hanrahan has always maintained an active interest in educational and civic activities.

He was directly responsible for securing the first kindergarten in Broadmoor Village and has served as a member of the Board of Directors of the Broadmoor Improvement Association for four years as transportation chairman.

His interest in recreational activities has been manifest by his serving as director of the Daly City Community Concert Association and committee member of the annual Daly City May Festival.

At the outset of the current national emergency he volunteered his services as instructor of Red Cross First Aid and is presently devoting his time instructing these classes.

Mr. Hanrahan feels that the school board should function as a harmonious group and that individual differences should be amicably settled without adverse publicity which directly affects morale of the teachers and the children of the district.

Fashion Tea Proves Successful

Success was the keynote sounded by Emydian Institute No. 154, Young Ladies Institute, concerning its first Fashion Tea sponsored on May 12 in the Garden Room of the Colonial Drive-In, Colma.

The painstaking efforts of the Chairman, Mrs. Betty Hyndman, and her committee workers were evidence by the attendance at the function. To them words of praise and commendation were many.

The Garden Room was a very warm and pleasant setting for the attractive and gay colorings displayed in the garments fashioned by those who modeled the lovely and varied clothes from Alex de May and Leslie's apparel stores.

Many words of thanks were extended to Memory Gomez, the commentator, for her very adequate and complete description of each garment and for her friendly, and cordial presentation.

After refreshments were served a number of door prizes were raffled and lucky were those guests who departed with a prize—a reminder of an afternoon pleasantly spent and with a forethought of a future Fashion Tea to be sponsored in like manner.

The following are members of the Institute who modeled: Mrs. Virginia Gilbrech, Mrs. Ann Morris, Mrs. Adele Bianchini, Mrs. Lenore Varni, Mrs. June McCarthy, Mrs. Dorothy Zanon, Mrs. Shirley Zocci, Misses Mary Belli, Mae Varni, Paula Busschaert, Rosemary Flanagan, Mary Ann Zanon, Yvonne Latrielle and Dorothy Olcese.

GIRL SCOUT LEADERS COURSE GIVEN MAY 31

A day camp training course for Girl Scout leaders and adult volunteers will be given May 31 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Orange Avenue Recreation Center in South San Francisco.

All interested women are invited to attend the meeting.

Also, a training course for Camp Mathrop leaders is to be given June 5 and 7. The time of this meeting will be announced at the May 31 conclave.

Surveys to determine the methods of financing new homes are conducted periodically by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

North County Gets New Politicos

Judge, who resides in Garden Village.

Election Congressman
Under the new bills, the county will elect its own congressman instead of sharing one with Santa Clara, San Benito and Santa Cruz Counties. It will be known as the ninth congressional district.

However, as the much-debated reapportionment plan became the law of the state, it appeared likely that it may be fought at the polls.

If the Democrats make good their threat to take the issue to the people, Governor Warren said he would call a special election.

The Democrats charge that the Republican-written bills redrew the districts so as to make it easier for Republicans to win seats at Sacramento and Washington.

Protests
Prospects for the new assemblyman post include Marion Kent, county Democratic chairman; Robert Hardgrove, Millbrae editor; Proctor Jones, unsuccessful candidate for sheriff last year; Daniel J. Creedon, San Mateo justice of the peace and former mayor, and William M. Werder, county supervisor. The last three named are Republicans.

During the hearings the day before the signing of the bill, William Malone of San Francisco, former Democratic state chairman, said that if the bills became law, "this matter will be carried to the people."

In announcing the signing of the bills, Warren said:

"In the event that referendum petition qualifies, I will submit the matter to the people at the earliest convenient date."

Approximate 190,000 signatures of voters are required to get the issue on the ballot, and this move must be completed within 90 days after the legislature adjourns next month.

To Election

If a referendum petition is successful, the issue would go on the general election ballot in 1952 unless Warren ordered a special election.

"Because of the earnest objections of many persons on both a regional and party basis," Warren declared, "I believe the people are entitled to make a firm decision at the earliest possible date."

The regional objections are mainly demands that Northern and Southern California get a 15-15 split of the state's 30 congressional districts.

The reapportionment gives 14 districts to Northern California and 16 to Southern California. At present the state has 23 congressmen but its increase in population over the past decade entitles it seven more.

Who Ordered Fence Work?

quired to answer this question at the regular meeting of the school board next Thursday still must be decided.

In a letter to The Record last week Mrs. Cheatham said the fence order was a "mishandling of public monies," and was illegal as a school board meeting should have been called. She said today that she had contacted the San Mateo County District Attorney and state school authorities as to their opinion on the legality of the action.

Both Callan and Van Der Werff defended the action, as they said there was an "emergency" and the fence had to be constructed immediately. They also noted that it took only two votes of the three man board to approve action; and both had approved.

Local Man Taking Officer's Course

Major Rupert F. Dunham, 811 87th Street, Broadmoor Village, Colma, is attending the Reserve Officer Training Corps Instructor Indoctrination Course at the Army's Transportation School, Fort Eustis, Va.

A graduate of the University of Illinois, his Army service dates back to July 1938, when he was a platoon leader at Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

During World War II, Major Dunham served with the 126th Infantry Regiment in the Asiatic-Pacific theater of operations. He returned to the United States in January 1945, and has since served at Fort George G. Meade, Md.; Camp Pickett, Virginia; Fort Mason, California; and in the European Command.

His awards and decorations include the Asiatic-Pacific theater campaign, American Defense, American theater campaign, World War II Victory, World War II Occupation Medals.

Pay increases can be made under certain regulations issued by the Wage Stabilization Board.

on new duties. I offered him the position of principal at the new Colma School. He declined the position, and gave his resignation.

"He seems to have believed that the position of principal was not suitable."

Until his resignation, Falconer's official title was District General Supervisor.

Falconer could not be reached for comment.

Disagreement

In giving her reason why Snell resigned Mrs. Cheatham said: "There was a disagreement between Mr. Snell and Mr. Callan, and Mr. Snell had to resign." The nature of this "disagreement" was not revealed by Mrs. Cheatham, although she said: "I feel that Mr. Snell and Mr. Callan know too much about each other."

The center of this controversy, Snell, said he still had no comment. He said he had resigned at a special meeting of the school board in order to avoid a "public gathering" in which he might have to defend his action.

Just how successful his avoidance of this meeting may be, still has to be answered. The school board will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, and at that time the whole matter may come up for hearing again.

General Opinion

The general consensus is that the majority of residents would like to keep Snell as superintendent. However, he has reiterated that his action is final; and that he has signed a contract to teach in Alameda.

Snell came to the Daly City school system three years ago from Fort Bragg. During his three years he has been successful in pushing through a much needed building program. He has made thousands of friends who are free in admitting they are sorry to see him leave.

Good Question

Callan, at the meeting Monday, posed the interesting question to Snell: "Do you think the job of superintendent of schools in Daly City is good only for three years?" Snell said he did not know.

However, it was evident today that with the present school board split it may be no easy job to hire a new superintendent.

Andrew Van Der Werff, the third member of the school board, has gone on record in favor of retaining Snell. Callan has expressed his deep regret that Snell has resigned. And Mrs. Cheatham, who abstained from voting on Snell's resignation, said at the meeting that she believed he had "resigned in haste, and should give it more thought."

Van Der Werff is up for reelection this Friday. He is opposed by three candidates, one of whom has expressed indignation against certain of Snell's alleged actions.

Meanwhile, several teachers (who did not wish to be named) have expressed some doubt as to whether they can remain with a district where the school board is split wide open. They may follow the action of Snell and Falconer in the very near future, they said.

Serra High School Festival Slated This Week End

Doors will open promptly at 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday at Serra High School to welcome all guests to the annual Festival sponsored by the Father's Club and Mothers' Auxiliary.

The Festival this year, as always in the past, has had great enthusiasm and cooperation from the faculty, students and parents. A variety of concessions for young and old has been carefully planned by the committee and fun is promised for everyone. Refreshments will be in the school cafeteria.

Proceeds each year are used to develop the school's athletic and library program.

The Festival Committee is under the honorary chairmanship of Rev. Father Vincent I. Breen, assisted by Rev. Fathers J. Maher, J. O'Neill and P. Donovan. Mike Casentini, president of the club, is general chairman and Mrs. LeRoy Gast is co-chairman. Ticket sales are being handled under the chairmanship of Lyle Kenney.

Men Of Lutheran Church To Meet

The Men's Brotherhood of the Lutheran Church of Our Savior meets tonight (May 18th) in the church parlors located on the corner of Garfield & Junipero Serra Blvd. All men of Daly City and Vicinity are cordially invited to attend.

The pastor, the Rev. Robert C. Konzelman, B.D., reports there is a growing interest in the number of high school students taking Lutheran Doctrine Instruction. This class meets at the church every Sunday afternoon at 1:30. Any teen-ager who would like to enroll in this class is invited to phone JU. 4-8501 or JU. 4-0293, and the pastor will be glad to furnish full particulars.

Sunday School and Bible Classes are held every Sunday morning at 9:45, and Divine Worship Hour follows at 11. The Sunday Evening Bible Hour is at 7:30. Bring your Bibles and your Questions to this Informal Sunday Evening hour—the pastor welcomes this time to serve you.

S. F. Letter Carrier's Volunteer Services For May 24 "Porch Light" Campaign

Although tired and weary after their days toil, the Letter Carriers of the San Francisco Post Office have volunteered their services to assist their Postmaster, John Fica, Cerebral Palsy Chairman, and will retrace their steps on the evening of May 24 (Thursday) starting at 7 p.m. in a "Porch Light" campaign to accept contributions for the Cerebral Palsied of this area.

Your illuminated porch light will be the signal that you wish to help the nearly half million victims of this crippling affliction, that can hit any home at any time.

The Letter Carrier on your route will call and accept your contribution to this Cerebral Palsy fund which will provide adequate diagnosis, treatment, care and education for those afflicted with this malady.

In the current local campaign being conducted during the month of May, the goal is $70,000. Of the money contributed locally, 75 per cent will remain here for the establishment of a pre-school nursery and adult work shop, while the balance will provide special training for physicians and therapists at the national level.

If you miss your mailman on May 24th, you can mail your contributions to Cerebral Palsy, 1151 Market street, San Francisco 3, California.

Consumption of Mussels Ban Placed In Effect

MAY 17. (CNS)—The State Department this week warned that the ban on mussels is now in effect and consumption of the shellfish is forbidden through October 31.

The quarantine is placed in effect annually to prevent toxic poisoning. Mussels feed on an algae at this time of year, picking up a poison which is deadly to humans.

During the summer of 1927, before the ban was placed in effect, toxic mussels poisoned 102 persons and six died.

Girl Scouts Sign Up For Summer Camp

May 19, 1951, Saturday, is the date for Girl Scouts to register for either established or day camp at the Girl Scout Office, Colma Town Hall, El Camino Real, Colma. Girls who have saved $5 in Camp Stamps can register from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Girls who have not saved this amount in camp stamps will register from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. For girls outside our county, applications will be accepted in person or by mail after May 19.

For Camp Wasibo the dates are: Session 1—10 days—July 2 to July 12
Session 2—14 days—July 13 to July 27
Session 3—10 days—July 29 to August 8

Fly-ups (girls who are going into the fifth grade or who will be 10 years old in the fall and are now in Brownie Troops) will be accepted only during this Session 3. Camp accident and illness insurance is available, if desired, and can be paid for at the same time. A health blank, which will be mailed to parents of girls who register a short time before camp opens, must be filled out by a doctor of medicine four or five days previous to arrival in camp.

Wasibo, our Established Camp, is for Intermediate and Senior Scouts and "fly-ups" Brownies. It is situated in a wooded country in the Santa Cruz Mountains, seven miles from Felton. It is a well planned and safe camp, that meets with certain health standards as well as those required by which has been dammed for swimming is tested at all periods to meet state requirements. A well-balanced food diet will be supervised by a dietitian. Food is stored in coolers, refrigerators, and screened storage rooms. An outdoor dining room situated on the edge of the stream is most inviting. A registered nurse will be on the camp staff. All medicines are turned over to the nurse, who sees that girls follow their regular schedules.

Sixteen girls of the same age range live in a unit with a counselor especially suited for each unit. The adults help to plan their activities and accompany them on all phases of camp life. A large meadow affords space for games, sports, and star gazing. The program is a leisurely, happy one, but will be "chuck" full of things to do, such as hiking, crafts, (special plans this year), explorations, cookouts, campfires, both in the unit and at the BIG CIRCLE. There will be nature jaunts and dramatics, swimming and singing, sleeping and EATING. There will be special guests sometimes, to teach special things and also "camp kapers" too, because we are Girl Scouts and all carry our share of the work to do—but it is always fun. Special plans for the SENIOR UNIT include a trip out to some new exciting place each session. Program Aide and Pre-counselor training will again be offered.

Sunday in camp is usually observed with Scout's Own. This gathering is not a substitute for religious service. It is a gathering at which the ideals and ideas contained in the Girl Scout Promise and Laws are emphasized. Arrangements for attendance at church will be made with those who register. The mailing address is Camp Wasibo, 4533 Zayante Road, Route No. 1, Felton, California.

Camp Staff: Miss Lois Little, from San Jose, will be Camp Director. Mrs. Olive Perazzo, South San Francisco, is in charge of the kitchen. The Established Camp Committee is: Mrs. R. R. Lloyd, South San Francisco, chairman; Mrs. H. A. Henry, Millbrae, secretary; Mrs. Richard Crane, Daly City, service to campers; Mrs. James Hamilton, Daly City, equipment; Mrs. John Barker, person; Mrs. Alexander Tunzi, Lomita Park, building and sites, Mrs. S. J. Fells, South San Francisco, Mrs. R. P. Raynard, Millbrae.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Time Is A Cure

"I MYSELF HAVE RUINED my life. I have nothing left," writes Kathryn Hillsey, from Wilmington. "I don't want blame from you. I want help. Nobody can blame me more than I blame myself. But life hasn't been fair to me. Just the same, and many a woman does what I did, and never pays at all."

"I am 31, divorced, and the mother of two lovely children; Lettice, 6, and Jackie, 4. My one thought, night and day, is to regain some share in their lives. I don't want custody; I want a few days of my loved children's company every month, or a few weeks every year. When Lettice was born I almost lost my life; when Jackie was 2 my nursing brought him through polio. Don't these things count at all?"

"This is the story," the letter goes on. "Two years ago for the boy's convalescence I moved to a little mountain cabin in a colony of unusual professional persons. My husband joined us week ends, but in that time he became infatuated with one of the nurses in the hospital, and asked me for a divorce. Stupefied, I refused, and remained at the cabin, while he closed the city house and moved to the cabin."

"For seven months I did not see him, and in that time I met a painter whose cabin was near my own. I suppose I was tired after long anxious care of Jackie, and deeply hurt by my husband's action; but also I fell deeply in love. Before I knew it I was leading a double life; devoting myself in the daytimes to my children and maintaining a neighborly friendship with Jeff's wife, but wrapped in all the thrill of a love affair. The secrecy added much to it, for me, and I was simple enough to imagine it might remain a secret. Jeff's wife was a much older woman than he, a north European, and unsympathetic in every way.

"Well, that is about all. Someone gave John a hint of what was going on, and he had me watched. Nothing was spared me in humiliation and publicity. John got his divorce and got his children; the day of his divorce he was married to his sweetheart. I knew—everyone knew—what their relationship had been for years, but there was no scandal and no proof. She has my children."

"Jeff's wife died immediately afterward of an overdose of sleeping tablets. Suicide was not mentioned, but my name was mentioned in her will. Jeff was to forfeit a considerable legacy if he married again, and was to take their son to Europe to clear up her estate. So for me nobody was left. "I stood it awhile, then I went queer, and was handed over to a psychiatrist. He naturally didn't tell me anything I didn't know, but he did prescribe work. I got a job, have been promoted and sent here to be head of a department. I will not marry again, but I must have my children. Their little wistful faces haunt me day and night. They need me, and I need them."

"Is It Hopeless?" "Their grandmother will not let me see them; their father returns my letters unopened. I have a home for them now; a back yard with oaks and fruit trees. And I am a different woman from the one who made those hasty, inexcusable mistakes. But are they really inexcusable? Can you give me any hope?"

Yes, of course I can, Kathryn. And I won't talk blame and sin and remorse, for your own heart has drunk deep of them all. Part of the cure I suggest is time. Time has a strange way of shifting things about; people change, circumstances change. John's wife may not always want the care of two restless small persons who are not her own; John's mother will go her way and loosen her hold upon them. Fill your days with work and friends and service—service to anyone, everyone, service in a hospital, or for the blind, or in any of the Red Cross activities."

The other half of the cure lies in the words of an old Greek, spoken thousands of years ago. "Character is fate," said Heraclitus. Your character has worked an unhappy fate, so far. But if you use every day of the next year, and the year beyond that, to make yourself a better mother, a stronger character, an all-around developed woman, you won't have to struggle for your heart's desire. Good will come to you, pressed down and running over. Some of the finest lives of all are based in the mud of young mistakes.

Sea Saga Told In "Kon-Tiki" Movie

"Kon-Tiki" is the pictorial record of the most daring sea adventure of the past 1,500 years. It is the real-life saga of six men who sailed a 40-foot balsa raft across 4,300 miles of the Pacific to prove a theory, a theory scoffed at by the scientific world. The film opens a limited run at the Vogue Theatre on May 16.

It was the contention of Norwegian Scientist Thor Heyerdahl that the South Sea's Polynesian Islands had been peopled by the ancestors of South America's Inca Indians. This theory was in direct contrast to that accepted by scientists who claimed the islands had been inhabited by natives of Asia. Supporters of this latter theory claimed that the Incas didn't have craft which could survive such a voyage.

Undismayed, Heyerdahl gathered around him four Norwegians and one Swedish scientist. They journeyed to South America where they built a 40-foot raft, patterning it after plans taken from an ancient Inca tomb. Against the advice of authorities, who warned against, and predicted disaster for, the expedition, they set forth from Callao, Peru. One-hundred-and-one days later, after one of the most perilous adventures in history, they reached the Tuamotu Islands.

As Heyerdahl points out, the success of the voyage does not prove that the Polynesians were settled by South Americans but it does prove that such was possible.

The film record gives visual proof of the incredible Odyssey. It is narrated by Heyerdahl who is seen in the film along with Norwegians Herman Watzinger, Eric Hesselberg, Knut Haugland and Torstein Raaby and Swede Bengt Danielsson, the men who made the trip. Heyerdahl also authored the book "Kon-Tiki" which is at present on the best-seller lists of 24 different countries.

During his absence the Rev. Paul H. Buchholz, D.D., registrar at the YMCA College, San Francisco, will preach. Dr. Buchholz is not a stranger to many in Grace Church. All who heard him at the Men's Dinner will want to hear him again.

Dolwig's Unemployment Bill Passed By Assembly

MAY 17. (CNS)—The Assembly this week passed a bill sponsored by Assemblyman Richard J. Dolwig, San Mateo county, which changes the unemployment compensation law so as to base benefit payments on the amount earned during the past year, instead of a quarterly minimum as now required.

Dolwig said under the present law, it is possible for a worker earning a minimum of $300 to draw full unemployment benefits.

Colma and Crocker students participated in the San Mateo County Safety Assembly on May 16, 1951, at Turnbull School, San Mateo. Representing the Jefferson School District the students presented original skits and plays illustrated by them and integrated with the use of audio-visual aids. Coupled with this the skills of first aid, resulting from the Jr. Red Cross First Aid course given in the 8th grade, Room 1 of the Colma School to supplement the science and health program.

Marlene Johnson, Marlene Logelin, and Margaret Scanlon.

The 5th grade at Crocker School prepared a paper film movie entitled "Let's Play Safe" and enacted by Vicki Tomasi and Anthony Sudduth.

Colored slides prepared by Lenita Johnson and Bob Bridges visualized an original story written and narrated by Bob Bridges, "The Story of Sam Scuttlebutt."

The final number on the program was a First Aid demonstration of Bandage Technique presented by Jim Snell, Safety Chairman of Colma School and Jim Rector room representative accompanied by Carolyn Saunmer and Marlene Johnson.

District transportation was provided by Superintendent Snell and Hugh Falconer.

Fourth Grade

Miss Belli gave our class a speech lesson on the "th" sounds on May 2nd.

The following students took part in the Spring Festival Sunday May 6th: Bonylin Adams was on the Queen's Float, Joan O'Keefe was in the Maypole dances, and Felix Valdez decorated his bicycle and rode in the parade.

Sixth Grade

The Sixth Grade of Room 4 enjoyed seeing one of their classmates, Patricia Perry, dance recently. Patricia has moved here recently from San Francisco and has performed three times on television shows. She danced "Lovely Hula Hands." The class has been studying the Islands of the Pacific and this tied in very well with the unit. Another class member, James Hawthorne, is an accomplished performer on the steel guitar and his program was especially enjoyed by the class members.

The class in Room 2 has begun its study of aviation and air transportation. Some of the boys are going to make model airplanes.

This class was sorry to lose one of its members when Benie Daniel moved to Tennessee recently.

Fifth Grade

Room Three has been busy making a movie to accompany its original play on "Safety."

The movie is being made on long strips of butcher paper which will be pulled through a roller. Most of the pictures are being drawn on the paper by children in the class under Mrs. Schrober's direction.

The play rehearsals are being held daily and the class members are hoping that everyone will enjoy the play.

One of the fifth graders, Virginia Edinger, has been confined to the hospital with appendicitis. We all hope she will return soon.

The pupils of Room 3, 8th grade, are working on algebra problems and reviewing the fundamentals of arithmetic. All eighth graders must pass a test on history and the Constitution of the United States in order to receive a diploma. Consequently, a lot of hard work is necessary at this time if the tests are to be passed satisfactorily.

The students of the 7th grade in Room 6 are studying about trees. They have learned to tell the age of trees by counting the rings of wood. In arithmetic the students are learning to compute interest.

The students of Grade 7, Room 4 have just completed a Social Studies Unit of Greece and Italy. This was a very interesting unit as it dealt with the ancient civilizations that once controlled the then known world. In arithmetic the class has just completed the study of circle graphs and is reviewing the fundamental concepts.

MEET YOUR NEIGHBORS

Now residing at 373 Niantic Avenue are Don and Clara Gaetano and their two children, Paul, 9, and John, 7. They are from San Francisco. Mr. Gaetano works for the post office.

Receiving mail at 4B Alexander Street are Edward and Darleen Laris from San Francisco. They have three children, Edward Jr., 4½, Landa Darleen, 3, and Conquella Marie, 2. Laris works for a brokerage firm.

From Montana, via a short stay at San Francisco, come Charles, Corinne, and 2-year-old Scot Lea, the new residents at 60 Alexander Street. Mr. Lea is an insurance agent for Credential Life.

Don and Joan Logram and their 4-month-old daughter, Lisa, are the new residents at 150A School Street. They are from Indianapolis where Mr. Logram played professional basketball. While at the University of San Francisco he made All-American in that sport, and led the Dons to the National Invitational Tourney championship in Madison Square Garden in 1949. He was named the most valuable player in the tourney.

Answering the door at 104 West Moltke Street are Mike and Irene Mareno from San Francisco. They have two children, Louren and Jimmy. Mr. Mareno is a building contractor.

Newcomers living at 364 Hillside Boulevard are Bob and Eleanor Spitzner and their two-week-old daughter, Cynthia Jane. They are from San Francisco. Mr. Spitzner is a refrigeration journeyman.

Hoodlums Attack Daly City Boys

Two small Daly City boys told police that they were attacked by two hoodlums as they were leaving Marchbank Park last Thursday.

The boys, Darrell Carboni, 12, of 31 Werner Street, and Joly Castro, 13, of 359 Woodrow Street, said that they inadvertently bumped against two older boys and came in for a severe pummeling.

But the legislature still is adamant about new taxes and whether these proposals get anyplace is anybody's guess, with the odds against increases.

Miscellaneous: A lot of senators and assemblymen have a "mad on" over failure to get a $750,000 appropriation bill for a Marin-Contra Costa bridge out of committee. Assemblyman Francis Lindsay, Placer county, is the man who failed to vote on the measure.

Third Annual Junior Olympics Three Schools Challenge Defending Champ Jefferson Elementary In Meet

The Third Annual Junior Olympics, sponsored by the Lions of Daly City and Colma, will be held Sunday at the Jefferson High track.

Weather permitting, there should be a large turn-out for the event. Last year's meet was a success even though the weather was not favorable.

The meet will start promptly at 11 a.m. and should be over in at least an hour and a half. There will be only four field events, the 50-yard dash and the four man relay.

Jefferson Elementary School is the defending team champion and will be represented by a strong team which is composed of many of the "B" team that completely dominated their division last year. Colma and O.L.P.H. will give them competition in the events though, and Crocker will be represented with a strong team entered in the "B" class.

The winners of each event will receive a gold or silver miniature track shoe. The "A" class will receive the gold shoes and the "B" people will be given silver shoes. The second and third place people will receive red and gold ribbons respectively. There is to be a limit of the number of events one may enter. This will give more people a chance to receive awards.

The names of all those helping with this annual event will appear in this paper next week as will the results of the meet. Mr. Johnson, Supervisor of Recreation for the City and School System, will be in charge of the event and expresses his interest in seeing more of the parents out with their youngsters.

Olcese Bats Bulldogs To 7-3 Win Over CCSF

San Mateo Junior College snapped a five game losing streak Saturday when they downed City College of San Francisco, 7-3, on Fitzgerald Field.

It was the Bulldogs' second Big Seven Conference win in nine starts.

Don Olcese sparked the Matean victory with a three-run inside-the-park homer that overcame a 1-0 Ram lead. Olcese's drive, a long liner down the rightfield line, started a Bulldog uprising that produced seven runs in four innings.

The slugging rightfielder collected a pair of doubles to complete a perfect day at bat, three for three, and drove in four runs.

May Leal came through in the clutch to pick up his first loop win of the season. He scattered six CCSF hits.

Central Club Cops Bowling Loop Title

Central Club, 6282 Mission Street, won the Daly City Merchants Bowling League in a "story book" finish.

The last session of the season found the gang from the top of the hill one full game behind Thur Meats, however, a double win for them coupled with a twin defeat for the "Butcher Boys" provided the setting for the thrilling finish.

The season was officially completed with two of the teams neck and neck in the win column. In the deciding play-off, Central Club showed too much power and they emerged easy winners.

Only 13 1/2 per cent of California's 1,130 miles of coastline is owned by city, county, and state agencies, and is available to the public for recreational purposes, reports the Wildlife Conservation Board.

Young Jeffs Win PAL Championship

Delbon Paces Frosh-Soph With One Hit Job, 9-0

Jefferson High's frosh-soph won the P.A.L. championship last Thursday by white washing South San Francisco High, 9-0, on the losers diamond.

Brilliant Don Delbon hurled one-hit ball to lead the Jeffs to the title. The Warrior's Miller nipped Delbon for a safety in the fourth frame for the only hit.

Delbon whiffed 19 of the 23 South City batters, and walked only one.

The Indians did all of their scoring in two innings. They tallied four times in the second frame and added five more in the fifth, the big blow being Delbon's triple with the bases loaded.

Couch Clarence Lair's charges wound up their campaign with a 17-2 record. Both losses were by one run margins.

Sequoia High came second in the loop race.

Sport fishermen on public party boats operating out of California ports landed more than 114,000 albacore in 1950, it is reported by the Division of Fish and Game.

The California Division of Fish and Game operates the Nation's largest fleet of ocean patrol boats used in conservation work.

Nearly 200,000 anglers spent a day aboard public party fishing boats operating out of Los Angeles Harbor area in 1950, according to the California Division of Fish and Game.

ON THE OTHER HAND...

By Bob Quinlan

The San Francisco Seals have not offered quality to the fans this season yet, but no one can deny that they have offered quantity.

Since the close of last season the men in the Seals Stadium tower have transacted some 60-odd player deals.

Only two players from this season's first week lineup remain in their respective position. They are a centerfielder Bill McCawley and catcher Ray Orteig.

First sacker Fenton Mole was sent back to the Yankees, Keystone man Jim Moran was swapped to Oakland, shortstop Jack Conway was paddled to another Triple A league, third baseman Gene Valla was shipped back to the Yankees, right fielder Jack Graham was traded back to San Diego, and left fielder Joe Grace has taken over at first base.

The Seals still are searching for right handed hitting power in the outfield. They have just added Ed Sauer, who was obtained in a swap for Graham, to McCawley and Buster Adams. The combined batting average for the trio is a huge .251. What power!

The men of O'Doul had a good right handed hitting in the outer gardens earlier in the season in Archie Wilson, who was hitting at about a .360 clip. Most of all he could hit that long ball and that's what the Seals need for their new left field bleachers.

But the Seals turned him in on hurler Lou Burdette. Actually that wasn't too bad of a deal, for Burdette is the top Seal moundsman.

If nothing else, the Seals can boast that they have the best shortstop and best catcher in the league. Jim Brideweser is making the fans forget Roy Nicely with his sparkling plays at short. With the glove he is on par not with the Nicely of the past few seasons, but the Nicely of 1945, 46 and 47. Besides that he is hit-ing 100 points higher than Nicely at .327. No wonder the Yankees have picked him to replace Phil Rizzutto.

The top performer is Orteig. Why no major league team drafted him last season still remains a mystery. The workhouse of the team, Orteig catches six out of seven games a week. He is the leading hitting catcher with a .314 average. This is only his third year behind the plate, he broke in as a third baseman, but already he has the polish of a veteran.

Again this year the Coast league has a haven for baseball's old men. Take Oakland's ancient Bert Haas. He is batting .383, one point shy of the league lead, and leads the league in hits, runs and doubles.

Another example is Sacramento's manager, Joe Gordon. He is batting .373, third best in the league, and leads in the home run, and runs batted in department.

To supplement them we have Walt Judnick of Seattle batting .340, Lou Stringer of Hollywood with .319, and Sacramento's Joe Marty and Ken Keltner batting .310 and .306, respectively.

The two top hurlers are Los Angeles Herm Besse and Sacramento's Ken Gables. Besse, the ageless southpaw who has nothing on the ball but the cover, has compiled a 4-0 record.

Gables, who everyone believed washed up last season, has made an amazing come back this year to rack up a 6-1 record. Gables is using his head more this year, and does not rely on his fading fast ball.

Gelsi's Paste DC In Season Opener

Gelsi's Liguors opened its season Sunday with a 7-3 victory over Daly City A. C.

Neil Decker led H. Krohn's charges with two-for-three at the plate. Gelsi's displayed mid-season form in the win and should prove the team to beat in the coming Summer League.

They meet Sarto A. C. in a cross town duel at 2 p.m. Sunday at Marchbank Park.

Jeffs Close Season Against Palo Alto Today, Seek League Playoff Position

Jefferson High closes its regular season today when it seeks to clinch a P.A.L. playoff berth against Palo Alto High on the latter's diamond.

A win would automatically place the Indians in the playoffs with San Mateo, Sequoia, and either Burlingame or Willow Glen. A loss would place them in a third place tie with Palo Alto and possibly Burlingame and Willow Glen.

The Jeffs and the Vikings are making up a game that was postponed because of rain on May 4. At the time it was the "game of the year" in P.A.L. Palo Alto was undefeated and Jeff trailed with only one defeat. Since then the Vikings have dropped three in a row, and the Indians dropped another.

Coach Glen South's charges collapsed in the sixth frame Tuesday at Burlingame to hand the Panthers a 5-4 win. This was a replay of the 1-1 deadlock that was called after 12 because of darkness earlier in the season.

Ed Cereghino glided into the bottom of the sixth with a one-hit shutout going for him. Burlingame's Bob Benson started the inning by singling to right and Warren Kerzon then reached first on an infield error. Cereghino settled down to fan the next two batters, but then the bottom fell out.

Bob Peterson tripled in the two runners then checked in himself when Koepf was safe on a low throw to first. Cereghino walked Lowell Weight and then fed a base hit to the pitcher, Bill Bauer. Koepf scored on the hit and Weight came in when the relay got away from Catcher Bryon McMahon.

Curtiss went to the mound and sent the Jeffs down in the seventh. The win, however, went to Bauer who hurled his first P.A.L. game.

Jefferson scored three times in first inning off starter Charlie Bogle. After two had walked, Mario Leveroni was hit by a pitched ball to load the sacks. Cereghino then cleaned them with a long double.

Cereghino led the Jeffs at bat collecting three of the four hits off the Panthers' hurlers. On the mound he struck out 10 and allowed four hits.

Against South San Francisco last Friday Cereghino set a new league strikeout record. He fanned 13 Warriors to establish a five

Special Deer Hunt Proposed In Grass Valley Territory

GRASS VALLEY—The hungry deer near Grass Valley, Nevada County, will be doing less damage to farm crops under a special antlerless deer hunting season proposed by the California Fish and Game Commission.

Detailed reports and reasons for the controlled shoot will be presented at a public hearing to be held May 21 in the Veteran's Memorial Building, Grass Valley.

The Division of Fish and Game is among the private and governmental agencies which have urged the hunt. As the result of a survey made during the last year, the Bureau of Game Conservation reported that agricultural damage by marauding deer has been a problem for many years, and is now on the increase.

The Commission plan calls for insurance of permits to take up to 350 antlerless deer during the regular buck hunting season, September 22 to October 21. Permits, issued to licensed hunters on a first-come, first-served basis, would cost $1.

318,000 Deer Hunters

There were slightly more than 318,000 licensed deer hunters afield during California's 1950 hunting seasons, it is revealed by a tally of deer tags sold by the Bureau of Licenses, Division of Fish and Game.

H. R. Dunbar, Bureau chief, announced a total sale of $318,102 worth of tags in 1950. The figure represents actual sales reported by 3,115 license agents prior to April 1. During the same period in 1949-50, agents accounted for $318,379 in actual sales.

Resident citizen archery and firearms deer hunting tags were sold for $1 each in 1950, while non-resident tags cost $10.

7 1/2 Fish Per Sportsman

The reward for each day of fishing from party boats off the California coast during January was an average of seven and-a-half fish for each sportsman, says the Division of Fish and Game.

As reported to the Division's Terminal Island laboratory by operators of 54 party boats, a total of 4,552 anglers fished the Pacific during the 31-day period.

In the San Francisco Bay Area, 308 anglers took 780 salmon and 30 fish of other species. The 156 sportsmen who boarded boats at Princeton and Monterey landed 1920 rockfish, 100 longcod, and 270 other fish.

game total of 71 that erases the old mark of 70 in six games.

Jefferson won the loosely played game in which both teams committed six errors, 3-1. South City scored their only run in the fifth of five Indian miscues, a walk and a fielder's choice.

Ray Canziani ruined Cereghino's no hitter with a bloop hit in the fourth.

ANGLING ANGLES by old Hi

In the Spring, before the water gets too warm, you can have a lot of fun catching grassy or chain pickerel. The fish are hungry and lively at this season, and wage spirited fights when taken from clean lakes and rivers.

These pickerel are numerous and widespread, from Canada to the deep South, and grow to be the largest of their tribe. Old Hi has boated Eastern chain pickerel weighing more than six pounds, while trolling with fluted spoons and feathered spinners, but the average size is two to three pounds.

One thing about these fish, you don't have to be fussy about their chow. They'll devour frogs, crawfish, bass bugs, worms, grasshoppers, dobsons, minnows, and other live baits. And in the artificial lure division you can please them with plain spinners, spinner and pork rind, nickel or copper spoons, striped spoons, June Bug spinner, Red Flash wobbler, flasher spoons, large bass flies, streamer flies, Winchester bait, and the Bass-wiggler.

Yes, sir, pickerel will take almost any lure that flashes and twirls at a fairly rapid rate. Red and nickel combination spoons are good, and so are spinners or spoons with hooks hidden in red and yellow feathers or hair.

It seems that a lot of anglers have trouble in telling a chain pickerel from a northern pike. In Old Hi

TALK OF THE TOWN

By DIANE DALY

Anyone who has been subject to, or has considered the pollution of our rivers, bays and waterways, in all its unhealthful aspects, will agree that it should be less on enough to those who take county or even state-wide housekeeping for granted.

However, slowly encroaching the very air we breathe, is its counterpart—pollution of the air—"Smog." Our neighbors to the south in Los Angeles, who once auded the clear sunny skies and almy breezes with extravagant publicity, now try to ignore the continuous cloud that blankets the sun and fills the air with fumes, and the dismal jokes that emanate from there in regards to same, would seem to be unhappy—at their expense!

Contra Costa County has its cracking plants and sulphur fumes—Nearby Bayshore is hardly a violet, either. San Mateo county, long a suburban paradise, is now beginning to add many new plants of various kinds, and the report is that the "Smog" flies are increasing alarmingly. It is up to the citizens to see to it that their public servants attack the problem at its source and check for filtered outlets, which can, and should be enforced.

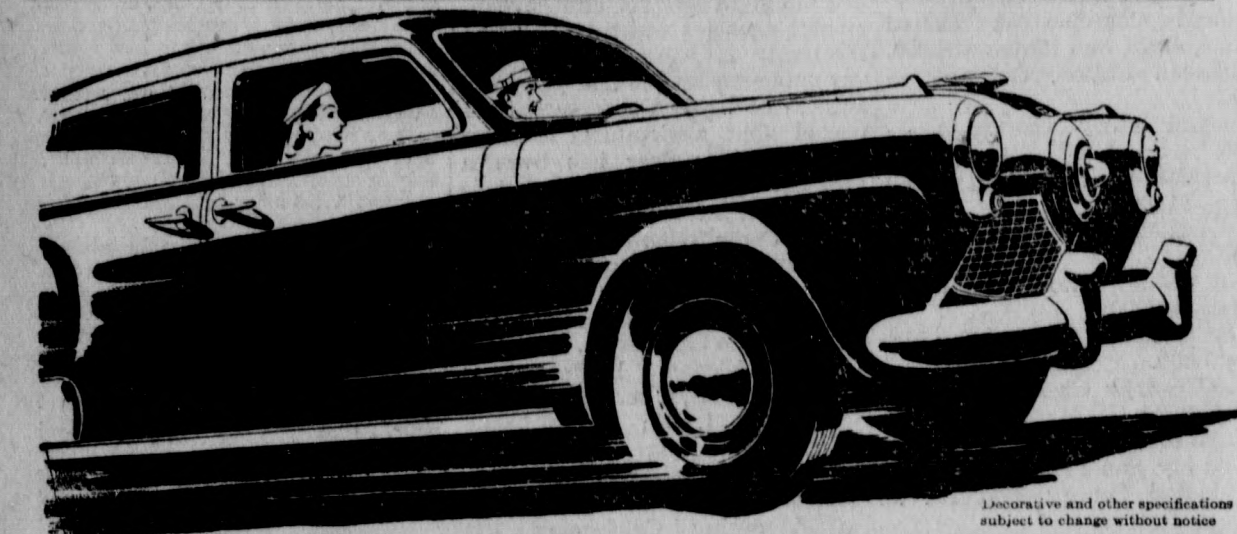

If the trend persists, Daly City-zens who complain of the fog, may find it is the only genuine fog in the County, and alas, if the wind should change (as it sometimes does) our sensitive noses will bear the full brunt of civic laxity!

LOCAL SCENT:

FIREMAN'S BALL:

A brilliant revolving crystal ball, spilling prisms of light down upon the dancing couples was the scene at Jeff High Auditorium, the time: last Saturday night and the occasion the Annual Fireman's Ball, which was attended by a capacity crowd of smartly groomed men and women and a goodly representation of the younger set. Members of the Fire Dept. made a distinguished appearance, immaculately turned out in their dress uniforms of navy blue, and Howard Frederic's orchestra, which played such danceable music from the stage, was back-grounded by a huge red helmet motif attached to a dark velvet backdrop. Entertaining during the intermission, Sam Slavich, 63-year-old S.F. fireman and punching bag specialist, held everyone in awe with his routine on the bags which revealed power, precision and timing, climaxing his stint with a musical novelty. Aenold Heggelund provided a comedy touch with several

Eleanor Salogga And Richard Gamba Exchange Wedding Vows at Grace Church

The formal wedding of Eleanor Salogga and Richard Gamba of the U. S. Air Force took place in the beautiful new Grace Presbyterian Church at Crocker Avenue and Winchester Street on Friday evening, April 11.

Many friends and relatives were present to witness the impressive candlelight, double-ring ceremony. Dr. William Harberts officiated. Mr. Reider Loff escorted the lovely petite bride to the flower decked altar.

Twelve branch candelabra on both sides of the rostrum completed the setting.

Miss Barbara King and Miss Jackie Mattox, wearing white gowns, were the candle-lighters.

Eleanor was dressed in a traditional white slipper satin gown with a full train. Her fingertip veil of net and chantilly lace was attached to a crown of beaded orange blossoms.

She carried a French bouquet of white bourdaria and stephanotis with a pure white orchid in the center.

Miss Carolyn Salogga, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a light green shading into dark green chiffon over a taffetta gown, with a crown to match. She carried a French bouquet of coral tuberous begonias.

Performing duties of best man was Ray L. Gamba, Richard's brother.

Ushers were Richard Hughes, ing Burlingame paper. The stint will be somewhat in the nature of a rehearsal, since I understand she will middle-aisle it soon.

The show is sponsored by the Burlingame-San Mateo Junior Aux. to Stanford Convalescent Home and Mrs. Norman Edwards will be fashion co-ordinator.

TRANSFERRING:

Lares and Penates from their San Mateo digs to a new home on Forest Grove in Westlake, are the Richard Oppermans, well known Daly City-zens, whose business establishment on School St. is dedicated to the housewives dilemma—namely fixtures and plumbing services. . .

FRIGID ZONE:

Opening soon in Westlakes new business section will be Godfrey's Ice Cream Gallery, whose proprietor, George Godfrey, will have a large selection of the finest ice cream available. . . More later. . .

TURTLE TANTRUMS:

When Mary Green bought a baby turtle recently for his son Jim, he was so impressed by the home ways and good habits of the thing, he gave in to demands from little sister Susan for one of her own. However, the house has been thrown into an uproar with the nocturnal prowlings of the new boarder. He has been caught crawling down the side of the buffet. . . viewing TV in reverse, in the rear of the set, and showing up in the most unusual and unexpected places. The day he cuddles in Paul's shoes will no doubt be the day he is introduced to the soup-pot. . .

RECOVERING:

City Attorney Frank Blum has been quite sick with an attack of virus flu and his wife Lois reports he is feeling much better. . .

RECREATION ROLES:

One of Westlakes leading citizens, Mr. George Pingry, 8 Cliffside Drive was appointed by Mayor Green for a three year term on the newly created Recreation Board at the recent Council meet. Also appointed was Ed Cavagnero, (Crocker Tract), Ann Eason (member at large) Ed Dennis (So. Daly City) and James Hienz (Central Daly City).

Peninsulites Hold Semi-Formal Dance

Members from the Daly City district of the "Peninsulites," a Bay-Area and Peninsula Jewish youth organization, will attend their annual semi-formal spring dance, "Maytime Fantasy," Saturday evening, May 26, between the hours of 9 and 1 o'clock in the Garden Room of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in San Mateo.

Peninsulite president, Larry Good, announced that the music for the group's big affair will be played by Bob Anderson and his well-known band.

The dance committee composed of Good, Shirley Meltzer, Shirley Fischel, Richard Ziegler and Counselor Irv Newman are making plans to have intermission entertainment for the dance.

Tickets are on sale now by the Peninsulite members or maybe purchased at the Peninsula Jewish Community Center in San Carlos at $1.50 per person.

The Peninsulites meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at the San Carlos center. The next gathering will be held on May 22 at 8 p.m.

OPS Reduces Meat Ceiling Prices

The pleas of California housewives for lower meat prices were partially answered this week when the Office of Price Stabilization reduced ceiling prices of certain inexpensive cuts of beef from 5 to 12 cents per pound.

However, ceilings on one type of chuck steak were increased by one cent per pound. The ceiling on wholesale rib roast sold at retail was also increased by 12 cents a pound.

The revisions of the ceiling prices were contained in an amendment to Ceiling Price Regulations 25 and 26 which established price controls on certain retail sales of beef.

They went into effect on May 14 and apply to all six meat store groups which were set up in the two regulations for pricing purposes.

They went into effect on May 14 and apply to all six meat store groups which were set up in the regulations for pricing purposes.

Retail ceilings for English cuts, known on the West Coast as top short ribs, were reduced by 11 and 12 cents a pound, chuck arm pot roast by 5 to 12 cents a pound, and rump roast from 4 to 6 cents a pound.

Ceilings on chuck roast and chuck steak were raised one cent a pound, while wholesale short loins and rib roasts were raised from one to 12 cents a pound.

OPS officials said the reason for the increases in ceiling prices on wholesale cuts was to permit butchers to realize their normal mark-up on this type of beef.

New Driving Class For Adults Begins

The Adult Education Department of the South San Francisco High School announces the opening of a new class in Driver Education for adults starting Wednesday, May 16, at 7 p.m. The class will meet each Wednesday and Thursday, 7-9 p.m., for classroom instruction. "Driver Training (behind-the-wheel training)" is scheduled by arrangement between the hours of 4 p.m. and 6 p.m., evenings, and Saturdays.

The course consists of 24 clock hours of classroom training and a minimum of 8 hours spent in the dual control car in behind-the-wheel training.

The total cost of the course is $10 including registration, tuition, and insurance. If you have a 1950-51 registration card, the fee will be $9.00.

Classes will begin on Wednesday. However, those who wish to, may register on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday. All persons expecting to take Driver Education during the summer should register with this class. A rather large enrollment is anticipated. We can accept up to sixty (60) students.

This is the seventh class in Driver Education and Training conducted by the South San Francisco Adult Education Department since March, 1950. Each enrollment group completes the entire course before a new class is started. It is now one of the most popular courses offered by the Adult Education Division of the South San Francisco High School.

There is no waiting list for Driver Training.

The Federal wage and hour law sets a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour for all covered workers not specifically exempt.

Local Women Go To G. S. Council Meet

The focal point of a recent meeting of the Daly City-Colma Council of the Girl Scouts of America was 38 women from this area. They were from the larger group of adult volunteers from all over th northern part of San Mateo County who had recently completed the Basic Training course conducted at the Orange Avenue Recreation Center in South San Francisco.

Now they were to be officially inducted into service as Girl Scout troop leaders or as volunteers with the adult organization.

After a brief business meeting, Mrs. E. D. Heagney, council president, presided at the impressive ceremony which emphasized the principles and objectives of scouting. She was assisted by Mrs. E. R. Golladay, Mrs. George Windhurst, and Miss Carolyn Passanaro in presenting each of these new friends of scouting with the World Trefoil pin. They were then welcomed by members of the council and refreshments were served.

Bethel 198 Honors Queen At Meeting

The International Order of Jobs Daughters Bethel 198 will hold a stated meeting Friday night, May 18. Patricia Russell, Honored Queen, will preside.

It is farewell night for Patricia. Come one, come all, make Patricia's last night a gay occasion.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting. There will be a Spanish theme, La Noche De Fiesta.

The Mothers Club of Bethel 198 will hold their regular meeting Tuesday, May 22, at the Grace Presbyterian Church, Crocker Avenue and Winchester Street.

The regular luncheon will be served at 12 o'clock. There will be no regular business meeting. The time will be spent preparing the Northern Council dinner which will be served by the members of the Mothers Club that evening at the church. All members are asked to attend.

Diane Daly Reports Jefferson High School PTA Sponsors "San Francisco" Fashion Show

by Diane Daly
(Exclusive to The Record)

Combining the talents of Mr. Mosely's stage crew, with the smooth music of Mr. King Stevens Orchestra, the feminine members of Miss Jones Sewing Class put on a Fashion Show at their own Jeff High auditorium last Thursday evening, that had all the facets of a "professional" affair.

Against a black curtain backdrop, a gaily decorated little cable car, the "Jeff Hi Special," was flanked on either side by palm trees and accented with a lighted street sign—GRAND AVE. . . and grand really described the clever setting. The models, introduced by Beverly Mizer, fashion commentator, alighted from the cable car to promenade down a graduated ramp, from the flower banked stage to floor level. Angle seating was arranged to facilitate comfortable viewing.

The show included all types of clothes with the newest innovations and trends of the year predominant, and were actually made by the girls who modelled them.

Dreamy

To the strains of "I'll See You In My Dreams" the show began with the appearance of Donna Ward, modelling (in school spirit) red figured pajamas with a collegiate flag design. Following her were Paulette Endres, Grace Domencini and Dorothy Roggenbusch, all in attractive cotton print pajamas of various patterns and colors. Laura Gok, who modelled the minimal number in this category was very cute in Chinese style short red pajamas with red piping and frogs on a white top, featuring a mandarin collar.

Skirts, Blouses, Weskits and Jumpers, in the next group were shown in a large variation of styles. One of the most colorful was a red skirt and matching weskit in red corduroy, the handwork of Eulalia Mares. Margaret Rosa featured separates, skirt and blouse in a becoming Aqua shade, and a provocative outfit was noted on Dolores Armstrong who wore a vee styled jumper in tiny black and red checks over a white blouse. Pauline O'Connor modelled a good-looking two piece jersey ensemble with bat-wing sleeves. Other equally deserving presentations were shown by Mabel Garibaldi, Mary Sterling, Ora Miller, Frances Moore, Carolyn Gaston and Grace Johnson.

Motorman Paul Ortiz's next passengers to alight were dressed in suits, probably the most difficult of garments to make properly.

Barbara Sharp looked sharp in a pretty pink tweed suit, with soft feminine tailoring. Red-haired Shirley Mollette carrying a nose-gay of shaded purple and blue cinerarias looked very sweet in a lilac butcher linen suit, with which she wore white accessories. Attractive spring suits were seen on Joyce Owenby (checks), Joan Clement (navy), Carolyn Salogga (grey), with a lovely blue version of the bolero suit worn by Dolores Koff. Rather outstanding was the green wool bolero suit with which Kathleen Johnston wore a cleverly contrasting violet hat, and a bunch of violets at the waist, completing the outfit with white gloves, black shoes and bag.

Second Verse

The "Object Of My Affections" well introduced the casual dresses which are so popular and practical. Virginia Aiello displayed a becoming green embossed cotton, with smart detail. An inexpensive, dressy blue shantung in dress-maker style by Marilyn Robertson. The darling of every wardrobe was personified by Anona Cahill's pink gabardine tailored classic.

With the summer season at hand, the vacation and play clothes got the largest play with many nice interpretations in Terry denim, gingham and cotton sheers.

Sun dresses in unusually pretty styles were shown by Carol Clarke in green with white trim, Jeanne Laskey in white pique print, Dorstein Thompson also in a print. Lois Kramer modelled a cute and well-fitting aqua sundress with white jacket. A yellow butcher linen, topped by a double breasted jacket was Lupe Malavears version of this style. Sandra Capetanich wore a model in lilac trimmed with white pique, and Argatha Barrett wore a pretty strapless blue pique, with a ruffled top and featuring a flared jacket.

Beach Style

Two versions of the versatile beach coats were shown by Shirley Mullin and Ann Shoots. Shirley's the coast style, and Ann's lined with plain gingham in a tunic effect. Viola La France in Grey twill shorts and white blouse completed the beach apparel. Con-

O. L. P. H. Church Holds Whist Game

Tonight, Friday, is th big night for the combined organizations of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church. For tonight they are staging their gigantic Whist for the Convent Report Fund.

Th Whist, to be held in the auditorium of Our Lady of Perpetual Help School, will start promptly at 8 p.m. For the convenience of those who have not as yet obtained their ticket the committee has announced tickets will still be obtainable at the door.

Along with the many prizes to be awarded the winners of the whist the committee members have planned door prizes and other awards.

Refreshments will be served throughout the evening.

PTA Sponsored

Miss Jones the sewing teacher, joking very fashion-wise herself, in a raspberry hand knit, was applauded by the enthusiastic audience, and received a bouquet of roses, presented by the Jefferson High PTA at whose instance the show was presented.

Since the making of clothes entails much hidden work not readily noticeable to a casual observer it might be pointed out that the clothe described in the above article, were not described by grades, but simply by appearance. The many girls taking part, made it quite impossible to cover each entry, or give true credit where it was due.—Diane Daly.

Donations To Blood Bank Still Coming

Largest donation received in the current Building Fund Drive or the San Mateo County Blood Bank was a check for $1500 from the Carpenter's Local, No. 162, San Mateo.

Numerous other contributions toward the $100,000 drive to secure financial aid to erect a new blood bank building were reported. The present structure, it was said, must be vacated soon.

Meanwhile, district chairmen in 11 sections of San Mateo County were busy collecting funds and making plans for active participation in the drive.

"The Blood Bank belongs to everyone," said Edward R. McDonald, chairman of the Organizational Committee. "The Blood Bank neither buys nor sells blood. It operates on a 'credit' and 'replacement' system. Blood is actually deposited in the Bank to be held against future withdrawals."

A record for blood withdrawn from the San Mateo County Blood Bank for civilian use was set last week, an official of the organization announced, when a total of 19 pints in two days were issued to hospitals in this area. Never before in the 9 year history of the blood bank has such a large amount of blood been withdrawn.

County Superior Judges Get Raise

MAY 17. (CNS)—The Assembly this week passed a bill sponsored by Assemblyman Richard Dolwig, of San Mateo County, raising the salary of Superior Court Judges in San Mateo County from the present scale to $15,000 per year. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Dolwig announced at the same time that his Assembly constitutional amendment 36 calling for a $250,000,000 bond issue to finance construction of grade separations throughout the state, has been given approval by the committee on constitutional amendments and sent to the Ways and Means committee for final action before moves to the Assembly floor.

The plan is designed to make the highways safer to travel by eliminating a hazard which annually accounts for many highway accidents.

Rehabilitation Group To Meet

The next meeting of the San Francisco Chapter of the National Rehabilitation Association will be held at the Goodwill Industries, 40 Howard Street, today, May 17, 1951. This meeting devoted to the rehabilitation of the Blind will begin at 8 p.m.

The program will consist of a panel of speakers discussing various aspects of the subject.

Mr. Perry Sundquist, Chief, Division for the Blind, State Department of Social Welfare, will serve as the moderator and introduce the speakers.

A. E. Maumenee, M.D., Ophthalmologist, Stanford University Hospital, will speak on "Recent Developments in the Prevention and Treatment of Visual Disabilities."

Herbert R. Stolz, M.D., Division of Special Schools and Services, State Department of Education, will speak on "Recent Progress in the Program for Adult Blind Persons in California."

Dr. Berthold Lowenfeld, Superintendent, California School for the Blind, Berkeley, will speak on "Counseling the Blind."

This meeting is open to the public.

Community Chest Names PRO Group

The new Public Relations Committee of the Community Chest of San Mateo County, which was created by the Board of Directors at a recent meeting, held their first meeting last week.

Members of the committee are: Glen O. Smalcomb, Chairman, Elwyn H. Gregory, Lester E. Lafferty, Ian E. Lang and Hugh A. Wayne.

Geo. H. Atkinson, Chest President, said this is now one of four standing committees established by the board for the purpose of carrying on a year-round publicity program and to promote good public relations for the Community Chest.

Telling the full story of the Community Chest and the activities of the agencies is very important, Chairman Smalcomb said, and every possible means will be used so the people of San Mateo County will know where their chest dollar goes.

A speakers bureau was formed with Elwyn G. Gregory as Chairman. Mr. Gregory said he will develop a capable list of speakers who will fill as many engagements as possible between now and campaign time in the fall.

Mr. Smalcomb said the people of San Mateo County are interested in their Community Chest; they want to know more about it and what services are being provided. That will be the job of the Public Relations Committee.

County Republican Women Hold Meeting

The Woodside gardens of Mrs. A. S. Alexander, President of the San Mateo County Council of Republican Women, was the local of the May meeting.

Mr. Stuart Richardson Ward, executive secretary of the Commonwealth Club of California, spoke on, "Uncle Sam and the World Today." "Be alert to the methods used by the hard working Communist to infiltrate into every group large and small. Learn the methods, so they can be recognized. This is important to preserve America."

Tea was served on the swimming pool terrace.

Mr. Perry Sundquist, Chief, Division for the Blind, State Department of Social Welfare, will serve as the moderator and introduce the speakers.

A. E. Maumenee, M.D., Ophthalmologist, Stanford University Hospital, will speak on "Recent Developments in the Prevention and Treatment of Visual Disabilities."

Herbert R. Stolz, M.D., Division of Special Schools and Services, State Department of Education, will speak on "Recent Progress in the Program for Adult Blind Persons in California."

Dr. Berthold Lowenfeld, Superintendent, California School for the Blind, Berkeley, will speak on "Counseling the Blind."

This meeting is open to the public.

DEAR PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS

Speaking of mines and miners—remember the story of the old time prospector who was cornered by a reporter in a practically "ghost town" bar and asked to recall some old time experiences?

"Well now, son," says he, "miners is funny people—especially about gold. Why I bet I could start a gold rush tomorrow easier than I can hit that spittoon." And to prove his point, he shot a thin brown stream dead center in the pot.

"That's ridiculous!" argued the young man who was paying for the drinks and local color. "This country is played out—you couldn't get a man in town to walk across the street if you shouted GOLD in a loud voice right now. Even I know that much!" he added graciously.

"Well now, son, I don't recollect saying as how I'd shout—" answered the old fellow. "Course, if you're afraid to take an honest bet, now, I'd be the last one to blame you. Man's got a right to his own opinions! I'm just saying I can do it—and I ain't a foolin' man."

Bet Taken

"Put up or shut up, huh," smiled the reporter. "Okay, it's a bet!" and the two shook hands with the bartender as witness—the young man obviously convinced that the only gold rush he might see would come from his editor when he turned in his character study of the old man—as a character.

"The old man, however, was not a 'foolin' man! All that night he travelled from bar to bar with a hesitant and almost secretive air about him—talking softly and indiscreetly, too, for a man with his secret."

"Hear tell," he whispers in a bourbon voice "that ore from the north fork of the Clear Water assayed at five dollars a ton this morning." — then he lolls over like he was spiffed and waits his chance to move on.

Next morning, the town was awake for the first time in fifty years! The hardware store was cleaned of picks and pans while the local grocer had a grub stake boom—every able bodied man in the place was high tailing it for the north fork of Clear Water creek in search of GOLD!

Gold Rush

Our reporter friend caught the fever, too, and was planning to hitch a ride from the nearest burrow—and would have, if he hadn't stopped off for a "quick one" first. Just as the drink was sliding down his twitching nerve ends—who does he see but his fellow bet-maker of the night before—wild eyed with excitement and loaded with equipment. "Say Joe" queries the barkeep of the old fellow, "Weren't you the one who started this rumor last night on a bet with this here young feller?"

"Sure did" answers the greybeard, "But hurry up with that drink, will you—I gotta be on my way!"

"But, if you STARTED it, what's your hurry?"

"Sure I started it, but you don't think I'm gonna sit here without going to see if there's any TRUTH in it—do you?"

All of which goes to prove that Mark Twain's definition of a mine is still as good as it ever was. "A MINE IS A HOLE IN THE GROUND WITH A LIAR ON TOP"—Can you think of a better one?

S.M.J.C. Events Golf Tourney Slated May 21

San Mateo Junior College is receiving entries from all parts of the state for the state junior college golf tournament to be held on the Stanford course May 21. This is the first state contest for the golfers of the junior colleges, and present interest indicates that the event will be an annual affair.

San Mateo's golf squad ended its dual competition against league foes without a loss, though it did tie with Modesto Jaycee. The conference tournament for individual honors will be held at Stockton this weekend with Stockton College the host school.

The baseball team defeated City College of San Francisco 7-3 last Saturday on the San Mateo diamond, and will close out its season this week.

Students at the college are now busy preparing for elections next week to choose officers for the fall term. Win Griffith, present president, is heading up the preparations for the election, assisted by an elections committee.

The college players Club was quite successful in staging its term play "Dulcy," a three act comedy over the past weekend. As students look ahead to June they begin to prepare for the final events of the semester, and many of those pertain to the outgoing sophomores, who are now planning a class picnic, a class breakfast, and graduation.

DISTRICT LEGION AUX. MEET SCHEDULED

Meeting at Redwood City this Friday evening at 8 o'clock will be the 26th District American Legion Auxiliary.

The meeting is to be held at the Legion Hall, El Camino Real. It will be presided over by Mrs. August Hanson, Daly City, district president.

Principal business will be the awarding of prizes for the best poppy posters for the district as well as Americanism awards.

OPEN HOUSE FOR ALL SQUARE DANCERS

The Daly City Recreation Department will again hold open house for all square dancers in the area, at their hall in Daly City, 7341 Mission, from eight to eleven, Sunday evening, May 20.

Dances will be American Rounds and Squares only, and at an intermediate level, to enable more people to take part in the fun.

Ladies, slip into your calicoes, and gents into your jeans, and come out and swing and sway to the calling of Red Fuller of Sharp Park.

Hardgrove States Trustee Platform

Robert H. Hardgrove, resident of San Mateo and editor of the Millbrae Sun, said today that if he is elected to the San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees in Friday's election, he will press for a speedy decision on a permanent site for the college.

A veteran of World War II, Hardgrove has lived in San Mateo the past six years. He is married and has three children.

"The question of the junior college site is important only in its relation to the quality of education made available to our young people," Hardgrove's statement said.

"But it has become clear that the division of the college into three campuses is not good for school spirit or faculty morale. A unified campus would improve the kind of educational experience J.C. students could get.

"Failure to solve the site problem may have prevented other high school districts from joining San Mateo, Jefferson and Half Moon Bay, which now comprise the J. C. district. Solution of the problem might be the first long step towards a countywide college.

"In addition, there is need to find a permanent site so the college facilities can be used by the entire community, providing a needed cultural and educational center.

"In working towards this goal, I will be mindful of sound business principles, economy, the need for broad community agreement on major educational questions and intelligent planning for the future.

"Education is the nation's—and civilization's—best long-range defense. It deserves our wisest and most alert attention."

BAYSHORE VISITACION VALLEY

By Bernice Hendryx JUNiper 4-6449

The Bayshore and Visitacion Valley column, written by Mrs. Bernice Hendryx, has not been forgotten; but only skipped this week. It appears the mind was willing but the flesh was weak. To be more exact: Mrs. Hendryx attempted to write her column, but a dose of poison oak stopped her agile fingers from penning the news of the area.

Her column will be back next week.

Maritime Museum To Open In S.F.

Opening of San Francisco's new Maritime Museum at Aquatic Park May 27 will be one of the features of the City's celebration of World Trade Week this year.

Robert H. Wylie, San Francisco Port manager and World Trade Week chairman, said the event would tie into the many other activities planned for the week, May 23-27.

All exhibit space for the Trade Fair, to be held in the Palace Hotel this year, has been sold Wylie reported. The Fair will be the largest showing in the city's history, he indicated, and will center around 100 colorfully decorated booths.

"The Fair this month," Wylie said, "will combine in equal parts the business elements of interest to importers, buyers and others, and a travel-vacation appeal for the general public."

Wylie emphasized there will be no admission charge for the Fair.

S F Man Found Guilty On Two Charges In "Principles" Trial

Fred Gehring of San Francisco, who demanded a jury trial on "a matter of principles" after he was issued a speeding ticket March 8, was found guilty on two charges Tuesday in the Daly City Police Court.

He was fined $50 for being disobedient to Officer Henry Sunderman, and was fined $5 for doing 38 miles in a 25 mile per hour zone on Hillside Boulevard.

Gehring had refused to sign the traffic tag, Officer Sunderman charged. According to law it was then necessary for him to put up bail in police court.

According to police, Gehring was to have followed Sunderman to the station, but he refused to.

Best of Passengers Under Glass

Our best passengers do travel "under glass." Along our lines in the West many of the nation's greatest scenic attractions are to be found. Giant picture windows in great new trains put the West on display for you. It's like riding in a traveling showcase.

Chair Cars on Southern Pacific's modern streamliners have been built with your comfort the first consideration. Dust-free, draft-free air-conditioning. No glare fluorescent lighting. Soft-as-a-cloud foam-rubber seats. Lots of leg room and move-around room. Extra-large windows. Feather-touch doors. Spacious washrooms.

That's why Chair Cars on Southern Pacific streamliners are the most luxurious form of all low-cost transportation.

A home laundry operates for pennies especially with P. G. and E. rates lower than in 1940

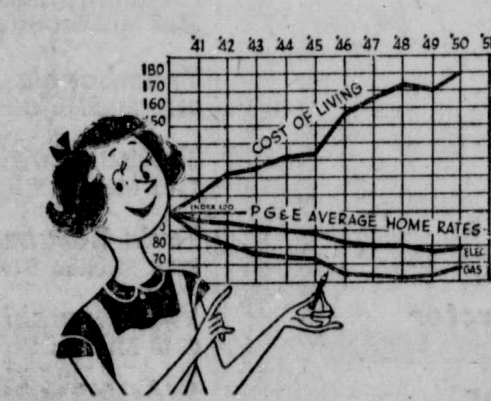

A modern washer is the start of a modern home laundry. If you have one... fine! If not, consider getting one. There are many fine conventional models available and, bless them, they operate for a few cents a load on P. G. and E. lower-than-1940 rates!

An automatic clothes dryer is a good investment and an important part of a home laundry. At your convenience, day or evening, it fluff-dries an entire wash sunny-fresh and sweet in a matter of minutes. Here again, you benefit by P. G. and E. bargain rates.

Since 70% of the average family wash is flatwork which can be quickly run through an ironer, you will want this helpful appliance in your home laundry plan. With a little practice you can also do shirts, dresses, frilly things on the ironer. Folks who have them say they more than pay their way.

Pastor of the Week

Fr. Anthony Morrissey

Father Anthony Morrissey, pastor of Holy Angels church in Colma, was born in Ireland, educated in Dublin and completed his training for the priesthood in Rome, Italy, where he was ordained in 1926. He has been priest at Epiphany church, assistant at St. Brigid's in San Francisco and at St. Francis de Sales in Oakland. From 1933 to 1941 he served as an Army chaplain, including a period as chaplain at the veterans home at Yountville. After leaving Army service, he was priest at Hayward but returned to the Army, serving until 1945. After this, he was assistant at St. Rose's in Crockett briefly before becoming pastor of the Colma church in 1946.

Fr. Francis C. Reali

Father Francis C. Reali, assistant pastor at Holy Angels church in Colma, was born in Switzerland, but was educated at St. Joseph's school in Berkeley and at St. Mary's college in Moraga. He, like Father Morrissey, completed his priesthood training in Rome where he studied for six years. Since his ordination in 1935, he served at Gilroy for one year and for 11 years at St. Sebastian's church in Sebastopol. He has been assistant at Colma since January 20 of this year.

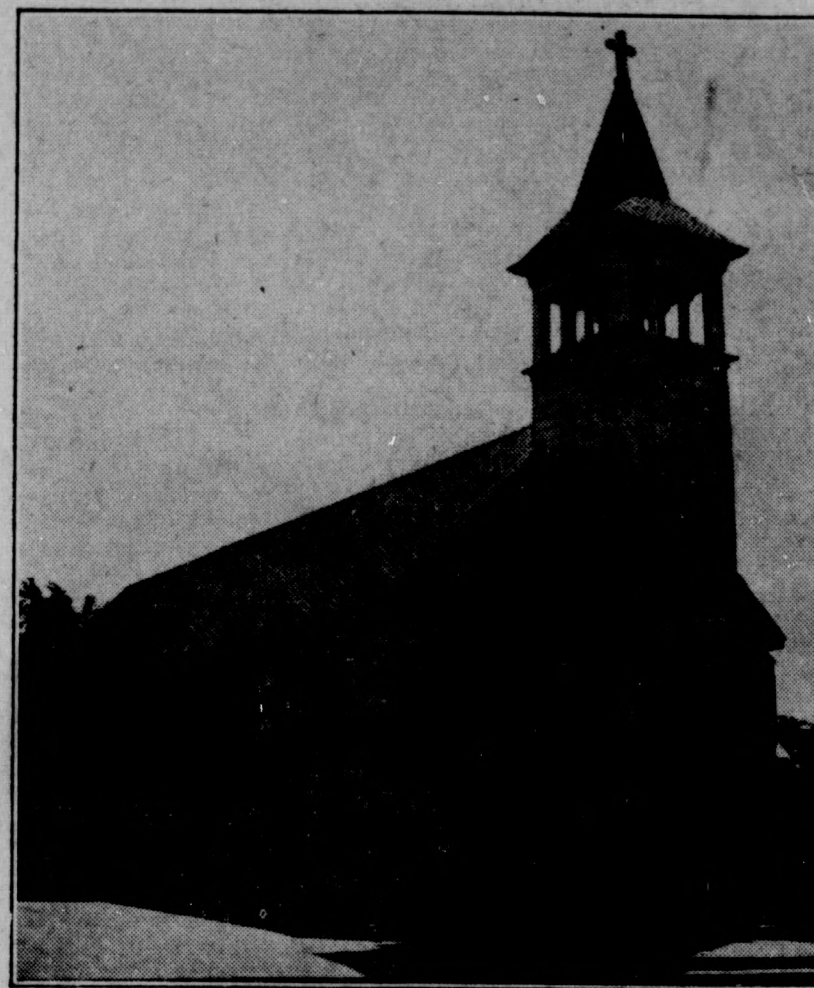

Sermonette of the Week

"THE OBLIGATION TO WORSHIP GOD"

Suggested by the Priests of Holy Angels Catholic Church of Colma

We know, even from reason alone, that God exists. Furthermore, even certain attributes, such as His knowledge and His power, are clearly seen from creation being understood for the things that are made. When human reason is aided by revelation, knowledge is greatly enlarged. From this reason alone we could never know of the existence of the Trinity, for instance. Individually, man has duties to God. In God, he recognizes a Being of supreme excellence. To God, he owes his entire being and its preservation at every instant. To God, he owes all his faculties or throbs of his heart, every power of action; every thought of his mind, even the most trivial movements of body or soul are possible only with Divine aid or cooperation. To God he owes his sense of right or wrong and his sure hope that a good life will bring him great happiness. Man, therefore, perceiving his own inferiority and his total dependence on God is bound to pay him the supreme excellence and by recognizing Him as his Creator, Preserver and Sovereign Ruler. He is bound to thank him and pray to Him as his Benefactor; to honor Him as the source of every perfection, to obey Him as Master and to feel and express sorrow for the offences committed against Him. Socially, man has duties to God. A social is a group of individuals united for a common purpose under common authority. The Family is a society for the proper rearing of children under the authority of their parents. The State, or nation, is a number of families united under one government for the temporal well-being of all. The Family may be necessary for the very life of man and for its perpetuation; the State is necessary for his normal development. It is only in a well-ordered State that any degree of civilization is possible; by division of labor for the necessities and comforts of life; and to promote by proper relationship and mutual training the development of mind and heart. Here, briefly, we have an explanation of our duties of adoration, thanksgiving, obedience, petition and reparation. Since society, whether it consists of the Family or the State, is necessary for man, it follows that society of a Divine institution. It is a creature of God, indebted to Him for its existence and preservation and for the benefits it receives. It can think and act through its governing authority. Therefore, resembling as it does, a living person, it is conscious of its debt to God and like the individuals under an obligation, to discharge it. Divine worship, naturally, in the case of individuals, must take some external sensible form. Man, obeying the instincts God has given him, assumes a reverential posture at prayer, sets apart for public worship, orders special ceremonies and rites and follows the ministers appointed to take charge of them. From this brief summary of principles, we can easily see the cause of the present strife in our troubled world. Nations, as well as individuals, are subject to the unchanging regulations of God's laws. What a comparatively happy place this world would be if the fact were universally recognized! But first, let us set our own house in order as individuals and members of the community. When the heaven begins to work from within we shall begin to recognize a fact that cannot be disputed—the brotherhood of man is simple, an empty formula unless it recognizes the Fatherhood of God.

HOLY ANGELS CHURCH

San Pedro Road, Colma

Holy Angels Church, located on San Pedro Road in Colma, was formerly known as St. Anne's church. It is one of the oldest Catholic parish churches in this area, being established here shortly after the Civil War. While several additions to the building have been made, including the building of the porch and wings, the main building itself has stood since that day on the property dedicated to the church by the Dunk family.

This community religious appeal is being made jointly by our churches and the following public-spirited business and professional men and women

Who Says A Teacher's Life Is An Easy One?

An interesting study made by the professional improvement committee of the San Mateo County Teachers Association has revealed that seventh grade teachers in the elementary field and junior and senior teachers in high school generally must devote the longest periods to class and extra-curricular activity.

The average teacher in both elementary and high schools devotes considerably more than the portion Committee. As estimated by the Interim Committee on Transportation, on the present basis of revenue, San Mateo County would receive $19,845,000 for the next ten years.

On the proposed basis involving a billion dollar bond issue, the county would receive a total of $33,409,000 of which $19,656,000 would be from current funds, and $13,753,000 from bond funds for the proposed strategic high system.

SB 1530, by Senator Randolph Collier, Yreka, who also is chairman of the interim committee, still is before the Senate Transportation Committee for consideration.

forty-hour week commonly accepted as standard for American working people, the study shows.

The study is based on reports from two test groups: City of San Mateo elementary schools system and Sequoia High School in Redwood City, according to Dan Tilley, chairman of the Association's professional improvement committee.

Average Week

Average working week in the San Mateo elementary system totaled 47 hours and 18 minutes, including 14 hours and 48 minutes in excess of the regular school week of 32 hours and 30 minutes. This is based on reports from 154 teachers. Seventh grade teachers, who must supervise children in an important transition period, averaged 54 hours per week.

Sequoia figures, based on reports from 107 teachers replying to a State Department of Education questionnaire, showed an average working week of 51 hours and 30 minutes. Among teachers handling major activities, both junior and senior class instructors averaged over 69 hours per week.

Radio Club advisors showed a figure of 67 hours and 4 minutes.

Long Hours

Teachers handling hall supervision showed an average of 62 hours and 30 minutes with journalism instructors averaging 61 hours per week.

As a sidelight to the study it was pointed out that journalism

Highway Patrol Warns Vacationers

Are you planning a vacation trip or a long week-end drive? If you are, the California Highway Patrol has a few suggestions to add to your enjoyment and safety.

First, prepare your car for the students are fortunate to live in an area where they can observe high standards upheld by the many daily and weekly papers on the Peninsula and San Francisco. The abundance of excellent printing establishments was also considered an important factor.

trip. Whatever its age it is important that it be in sound mechanical condition, not only to insure a trouble-free journey, but for the safety of you and your family. Before starting out have it checked thoroughly by a good mechanic, pay particular attention to the brakes, steering mechanism, lights and tires.

Second, prepare yourself. Check your driving attitudes, your driving courtesy and patience. No car is any safer than its driver.

Third, after you have started on your trip, drive at reasonable speeds, never faster than traffic conditions warrant and in no case faster than posted speed limits. Don't invite an accident or tragedy by driving when you are overly tired or fatigued. Remember that darkness increases danger so slow down at night.

Last, never pass another vehicle on a hill or curve.

Those suggestions, if heeded meticulously, are your best insurance for a carefree and pleasurable holiday, the Patrol declared.

Assembly Passes County Court Plan

MAY 17. (CNS)—Three bills creating as many municipal court districts in San Mateo county and a fourth establishing a similar district in the city of Palo Alto were passed this week by the Assembly.

The three affecting San Mateo county were introduced by Assemblyman Richard J. Dolwig, San Mateo County, and create a district embracing the cities of Daly City and South San Francisco, a second to include the cities of Burlingame and San Mateo, and a third combining the cities of San Carlos and Redwood City into one municipal court district.

One judge with a salary of $1,000 per year is provided for Burlingame and San Mateo, one judge for Daly City and South San Francisco to be paid the same salary, and two judges for San Carlos and Redwood City, each drawing $10,000 per year.

Colma Woman Passes Nurse's Examination

MAY 17. (CNS) — The State Board of nurse examiners announced this week that Patricia Harris, 211 Village Lane, Colma, has passed the examination for registered nurse and has been issued a certificate to practice in that profession.

PERSONAL MATTER

Traffic safety is a community problem, says the California State Automobile Association. Walking or driving, one fulfills a responsibility to himself and his neighbors in obeying traffic laws.

The three districts will have one clerk paid $345 per month, two deputy clerks at $275 per month, one deputy at $245 per month, and one deputy at $210 per month.

The Redwood City-San Carlos District is allowed two extra deputy clerks.

The Palo Alto Municipal court bill was introduced by Assemblyman Robert C. Kirkwood, Santa Clara county, and provides one judge at $10,000 per year and one clerk and three deputies. These range in pay from $185 per month to $255, but the bill provides for increases based on length of service.

Plan Acquisition Of County Bridges

MAY 17. (CNS) — Action on acquisition of the San Mateo-Hayward and Dumbarton bridges by the state was delayed until Monday, May 28, by the California Toll Bridge Authority at a meeting here this week.

The delaying action was taken when State Highway Engineer George T. McCoy said he recommended a final survey of the condition of the bridges before acquisition was undertaken.

McCoy informed Governor Warren and other members of the Authority that the original survey of the condition of the two spans over Southern San Francisco Bay was made in 1949, and a final inspection should be made.

The delay followed a hearing in which not one protest was raised against the action of the state. Representatives of city governments and civic groups from cities on both sides of the bay spoke in favor of the acquisition.

Under present plans, the state would acquire the San Mateo-Hayward Bridge for $6,000,000 and

Rob Peter To Pay Paul Tax Studied By Legislature

(CNS) — A bill designed to eliminate the necessity for a tax on cigarettes, and substitute instead, more taxes on liquor, was before the assembly today.

The measure was introduced by Assemblyman William A. Munnell, Los Angeles, in the form of amendments to the alcoholic beverage control act.

Dumbarton for $2,250,000. To this would be added a working fund of $100,000, making a bond issue of $8,350,000 necessary.

Plans are to pay off the bond issue at a three per cent interest rate. Tolls would be reduced from 50 to 35 cents.

It would place a 93 cent instead of a 62 cent tax on each barrel of beer, and raise the tax on distilled spirits from 80 cents to $1.50 per gallon.

Munnell said the funds raised would amount to approximately $15,000,000 annually, which could be added to the General fund, with the understanding the revenue so raised would be used to assist in the school program.

Declaring the liquor industry for many years has enjoyed the lowest tax rates in the nation, Munnell said the measure would merely bring California to the average state in the Union and should "inflict no great hardship on the industry."

"Brewers themselves," said Munnell, "assess themselves nine cents a barrel for their own political activities, a major portion of which was assigned to lobbyist Artie Samish for political purposes. If the beer industry can afford to assess itself to maintain powerful liquor lobbyists, then surely it will not object to a tax increase to assist in support of governmental necessities."

YOU WOULDN'T LET YOUR CHILD BE TRAPPED

OR WOULD YOU?

Take the brightest kid in town (he could be yours) ... give him a second rate schooling or not enough of it ... jam him into a crowded classroom, hand him an out-of-date textbook ... and the job's well begun. He may be damaged for life.

Oh, he may make out all right ... even be a fair-to-middling citizen. But compared to what he might have been—he'll still be something to make you weep.

By 1955-56, seven million extra kids will have swarmed into our schools ... and plenty of them—more than you think, probably—may be right here in our own community. They're going to need new classrooms, more teachers, more textbooks and supplies. And we got to see that they get them.

Because if we don't—we'll be selling ourselves and our country down the river. We'll be unforgivably wasting the most valuable natural resource we have—our own children—America's citizens of tomorrow.

Can't we start thinking about this problem now? You'll help, won't you? For information on how citizens in other communities have worked together in behalf of their schools, write to: National Citizenship Commission for Public Schools, 2 West 45th Street, New York, 19, N.Y.

REPORT ON BOOMING SAN DIEGO

by Ridgely Cummings

Last weekend, just for the ride, I accompanied a friend who was having girl trouble down to San Diego where the girl was acting in a show.

There were alarms and excursions, quarrels and recriminations, kisses and pleas for forgiveness. I don't propose to write about that, though I would if I could do so and give all the fascinating facts without coming too close to identifying the principals.

Instead I'd like to say a few words about a town that I hadn't seen for two years. Just about that long ago I drove through San Diego on the way to Ensenada. Then it seemed a prosperous but quiet community. Last weekend it was booming.

Marines Landed
The streets of San Diego looked like those of San Francisco in wartime only more so.

The town was packed with uniforms. The sidewalks around the U. S. Grant hotel on Broadway resembled a scene in a parade. Navy blue and Marine olive drab were the predominant colors.

Restaurants were jammed, transportation was overloaded, hotel rooms were at a premium.

In the course of our meanderings, the party of which I was a member went to two theatres and two nightclubs. There were lines at the theatre box-offices and standing room only in the nightclubs, with patrons packed two and three deep at the bar, barely room to wiggle one's hips on the dance floor. Bartenders overworked and curt, prices high, laughter loud and forced, tempers between service men and defense workers inclined to be short.

Spawning Plants

Driving in from the north we had noticed enormous aircraft plants. Housing projects of depressing sameness that reminded one of the droppings of mechanical monsters dotted the area between La Jolla and the city.

When we began to mingle with the inhabitants we soon learned that they could be divided into four major groups. First and seemingly largest unit was composed of enlisted men in the Navy and Marine Corps. Then came defense workers. A surprising number of men wearing civilian clothes turned out to be officers in the armed forces. Lastly came the business people, many of these in shirt sleeves busy raking in the dollars.

Aside from the estranged lovers and their reinforcements, the most interesting person I met during the weekend was a 27-year old chap I'll call Tom.

Tom's experiences and attitudes gave a picture, slightly prejudiced perhaps, of what life is like in San Diego these days.

New Attitude

Tom was employed as a physical chemist at one of the plane plants. His salary was $560 a month. I whistled in surprise when I learned this but he explained that he had a PhD and the companies finally have adopted an enlightened attitude toward doctors of philosophy.

Tom had been working in town three months. He was recruited from the campus of a midwestern university, where he was a teaching assistant at $180 a month.

Despite the fact he was earning three times his former salary, Tom was seriously considering quitting and returning to the University. He said the cultural life of San Diego was absolutely barren. In his own words, it stinks.

No intellectual companionship, he says. All people were interested in was money, liquor and wild weekends across the border in Tia Juana.

He said the local university club was inhabited by old dodoes, alumni groups except for California universities were non-existent, and the only cultural activity was an occasional symphony or play at the local high school auditorium.

"You wouldn't think 200,000 people could live on such a low level." Those were Tom's words, not mine.

Cleopatra's Needle, probably the oldest monument in the United States, was re-erected in New York on January 22, 1881.

You wouldn't let your child be trapped

... or would you?

"Caught in a trap? Not my child," you say.

But think a minute... think ahead a few years. Presently Jefferson High School—your high school—has facilities for 900 students. There will be 1,400 students by 1953. A new school must be built, or your child will be trapped... he'll be getting a second rate education for lack of space.

FRIDAY MAY 18

Baked Sale Set For Friday

A baked sale will be held at the Western Auto Store, Broadmoor, this Friday, May 18, by the mothers of Cub Pack No. 84.

The sale will get underway at 10:30 a.m., and last until the baked goods are sold.

On the block will be such home made items as cakes, pies, cookies, and baked beans. In fact, the wife with a desire to skip the usual dinner preparations will find everything she needs for a tasty meal at the sale.

All proceeds from the affair will go to further the work of the Pack in the community.

Meanwhile, at the regular Pack meeting April 27, the charter for the group was presented the boys by Arthur Slinde, Cub officials.

Bob Roller also was honored when he was presented with a one year star.

This Saturday the boys will take a trip to the Presidio where they will observe Armed Forces Day.

S.F. Writer Gets Pulitzer Prize

Another Pulitzer prize for outstanding newspaper reporting has been awarded to a San Franciscoan—Ed Montgomery, 40-year-old reporter for the San Francisco Examiner.

Montgomery won the award, one of journalism's top honors, for a series of articles exposing tie-ups between Federal income tax officials and the underworld.

Including Montgomery, four Pulitzer prize winners for outstanding reporting are now actively engaged in newspaper work in San Francisco. The others are Royce Brier, chief editorial writer and columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle; Jack McDowell, city editor of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, and Stanton Delaplane, columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle.

Brier won his award for reporting the San Jose lynchings in 1934; Delaplane, for reporting a secessionist movement in Northern California and Southern Oregon to set up a new "State of Jefferson" in 1939 and McDowell, for a dramatic account of the progress of blood from a donor in the United States to the veins of a wounded soldier in the Pacific, in 1945.

Navy On Unlimited Recruiting Again

Once again the Navy is on unlimited recruiting, announced the local Navy Recruiting Office in the Post Office Building in San Mateo and in the county courthouse in Redwood City.

Young men, 17-31 yrs. of age, who are morally straight, and have not more than one dependant, may complete their pre-enlistment papers at either one of the local offices, and also select their day of enlistment at the San Francisco main station for anytime in the future.

The Navy offers trade training in 62 major fields for which "Recruits" may apprentice, following in a line for which they are best suited as the results of an aptitude indicates. Join today and get started on a field of work which will be of value to you for the rest of your life.

Young women, between 20 and 26 years of age, unmarried, and having no dependants are also offered the same fields of endeavor that men are eligible for. "Waves," wearing the smart Navy blue are stationed in the United States, Hawaii, and England. It's the patriotic thing to do. Join the women's component of the Navy during this time of national emergency.

Acoma Pueblo, the "Sky City," is perched on a mesa 357 feet above the desert in New Mexico.

High School Board Trustee Urges Voters To Cast "Yes" Ballot At Friday Election

by Peter J. Markovich
Jefferson High School
Board Trustee

The garden of knowledge, from whose educational system pour out our youth of today to cope and balance our democratic way of living, find themselves in numerous districts handicapped from lack of classroom facilities.

This, naturally, serves as a hindrance—for to attain knowledge and the wisdom of life split sessions and over-crowded classrooms are far from the answer for a just and suitable education.

We who try to serve the school districts in the best manner possible are at time criticised when suggestions are made and a program for new schools are presented to the voting public in the form of a bond issue. Our joy in serving the school district comes not from the item of bond issues but to do the best job possible for the youth of our district. Yet, to do this, new schools are necessary and at present we are embarked on a Bond Issue vitally needed to take care of our needs for the immediate future.

At present Jefferson Union High School is able to accommodate 900 students comfortably—the present enrollment is 960. By 1954, as per census of the elementary schools, this enrollment will increase to 1,500.

For this reason, your Board of Trustees is asking for a "Yes" vote on the current bond issue of $1,300,000 to take care of the above mentioned needs. This money will serve to erect a twenty classroom building, two shops and a gymnasium at the corner of Skyline and Edro Road in Colma. It will also be used to build a new Cafeteria and multi-purpose room on the present high school site and to acquire twenty-eight acres of land in Sharp Park to take care of school needs which will arise some ten years hence or thereabouts.

To do this job it will cost the home owner on an average of less than two cents a day—which is a cheap investment for the education of our youngsters.

Individual Apple Pies Are Tempting

Open face apple pies, with that irresistible, fresh apple flavor, are served with tiny golden cheese pumpkins.

Juicy, mouth-watering apple pies, tender and spicy, taste better than ever now when you can buy those choice quality, rosy red Winesap apples which hail from Washington State's famous orchards. Perfect for cooking or baking, Winesaps are also excellent for eating as fresh fruit so you'll want to have plenty on hand for all your favorite apple treats. The Winesap is one of the best "keepers" so you can buy in quantity and have them cold and crisp in your refrigerator at all times.

Another good buy is the popular red-skinned Washington Delicious, tops for eating and for use in flavorful, refreshing salads. You'll find regular size Delicious and Winesaps, as well as the smaller, schoolboy sizes, reasonably priced and just right for tucking into lunch boxes and for munching between meals.

INDIVIDUAL APPLE PIE (serves 4 to 6)

6 Winesap apples
1/2 cup granulated or firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cinnamon or nutmeg

1 to 2 tsp. flour
1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 tsp. lemon juice
2 tsp. butter or margarine
Pastry

Line individual pie pans with pastry, folding 1/2 inch of pastry edge under rim of pan and fluting with fingers along edge of pan. Pare and slice apples and fill pie pans. Combine sugar, salt, spice, flour and lemon rind and sprinkle over apples. Sprinkle with lemon juice and dot with butter or margine. Bake in hot oven (425°) for 15 minutes. Reduce oven to 350° and bake 30 minutes. To make cheese pumpkins, soften cheddar or any sharp cheese. Mold cheese into balls and ridge with the tines of a fork. Tuck a clove atop each ball to suggest a pumpkin stem.

Mrs. Wiesner gave a report on the State Convention. It was very interesting, concise, but a thorough report. Material for the different departments was brought back for the chairman. The theme of the convention was "Children Still Come First." A speaker pointing out that the parents set the pattern for their children. The thought that also stopping wars from the inside out, by good living, high ideals, high morals.

The members and guests of the Colma Unit then enjoyed two lovely songs by Mrs. Carol Freeland, accompanied by Mrs. Memory Gomez at the piano. An encore was graciously sung for the teachers. The table was set in white with silver service; stock in white and orchid and candles of orchid.

with trays of tea sandwiches, cookies and cream puffs; Mrs. George Bertucci, a past president, and Mrs. J. D. Hopper, Jr., past president, poured.

Mrs. Wiesner, president, then introduced the teachers. This lovely setting was prepared by Mrs. Jack Clayton, Hospitality Chairman Mrs. A. Tuvo and Mrs. John Dennis, Jr.

The Parliamentary Procedure Classes are still being held at the Colma Community Center. Tuesday, 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Mrs. George Beanston, instructor. This course will last five more weeks. It is still open to the public. This was attended by nine members.

Mrs. Stella Jensen reminds that Friday, May 18, it is our duty to vote. The School Board of Trustees Election, also the High School Bond Election. Read all information sent to you.

How To Disguise "Hand-me-downs"

By ANNE GARY—ANS Features

NO NEED for youngsters to resent "hand-me-downs" when, with very little effort, they can be disguised so your children won't feel self-conscious wearing them. Nor is it always necessary to be an expert seamstress to give garments a "new look", for there are many tricks and short-cuts which help you save dollars on the family budget. For example, you might add a "frilly" ruffle to your little girl's pants to make her feel really dressed up. Ruffles are simply made from a straight, narrow strip of material (or several strips joined together), hemmed, gathered first, and then stitched onto each pant leg. The general rule for amount of material needed is to allow about one-half again the measurement around opening for fullness. To further accentuate the "new look", try tinting these pants with several pairs of socks, so your little one can have a matching sock-and-pantie ensemble all aglow with color.

Make jumper from old dress... ANOTHER TRICK in making over dresses that have become worn in the sleeves, armhole or collar section, is to transform the garment into a jumper. This is a very easy alteration and requires no expert sewing technique or pattern. You cut the sleeves out of the dress, deepen the armholes so they won't bind, cut a circular neck (deeper in front than in back, keeping plenty of width on the shoulder so straps stay in place), and bind off the raw edges. For a change of costume, to wear with the jumper, you might dip some old blouses in the dye bath, using a matching, harmonizing or contrasting color.

WITH THE AID of all-fabric dye (there are some 50 fashion-new colors from which to choose), many new-looking wearables can be made from the discarded of their elders or from worn household linens—all completely unrecognizable. According to the Tintex Home Economics Bureau, it's important to wash and thoroughly rinse all articles before dyeing and to remove buttons, buckles and trimmings. Also it's a good idea to use color remover first, the bureau counsels, when the article is unevenly faded or spotted, or if you are changing to a different color—particularly from a dark shade to a lighter one.

COLMA ARTICHOKE FIELDS RAIDED

Almost 20 acres of Colma artichoke fields have been stripped during the past two weeks for an estimated loss of $500, the Sheriff's office reported.

Victor Sanguinetti, of South San Francisco, told Deputy William Ridenour that thieves had raided part of his ranch and also the Reppetto and Figoni ranches, all of which are alongside the Skyline Boulevard near San Francisco County Jail No. 2.

The thieves are believed to be a man and a woman, Ridenour declared, because footprints were found on the raided fields. After the first raid, Sanguinetti stated he had stood guard over his property, but failed to catch the thieves, who made subsequent raids.

STATE UNEMPLOYMENT CONTINUES TO DROP

MAY 17. (CNS)—The State Department of Employment this week reported further decreases in the total claims filed for unemployment insurance for the week ending April 12, 1951.

In the South San Francisco office of the Department, 289 claims were filed, and 256 paid, the department report said.

For the week in question, 125,982 claims were filed, compared to 127,371 for the previous week, and 260,736 for the corresponding week a year ago.

The Department paid 98,576 compared to 100,093 the previous week and 212,131 for the same week a year ago.

The Federal wage and hour law requires time and one-half overtime pay for all covered workers after 40 hours a week.

The Decline & Fall of Tennessee Williams by Ridgely Cummings

I always had a soft spot in my critical armour for Tennessee Williams because as an unknown he washed dishes at the Automat in New York City while I was contemporaneously pearl-diving a few blocks south at the Exchange Buffet.

When "The Glass Menagerie" came out I hailed it in an obscure publication as a work of art, a sensitive portrayal of one of life's unfortunates.

Then came "A Streetcar Named Desire." This, I felt, was genuine writing, real drama. I said as much in these columns, at the same time taking a not-too-subtle dig at the management of the Curran and Geary theatres because I had to buy my tickets to the performance.

But at the same time that I praised the play I deplored its message and wondered in print why Williams was so obsessed with the derelicts of life, particularly those derelicts whose fragile craft always shattered on the rocks of sex.

Now I have come to "The Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone," which isn't a play but a novel, or rather a novelette since it fills only 148 pages and a good percentage of them are white space.

No fellow feeling for dispan hands and an aching back can prevent me saying that with this one Tennessee Williams has reached the nadir. He has fallen into the bottom of the pit. Now he is the dedicated apostle of futility.

Bad Title

"The Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone" is an unfortunate title. One is too apt to say the Roman stone of Mrs. Stone; but I suppose TW was striving for alliteration.

It describes the sex-life of Mrs. Karen Stone during a spring in Italy. If a philosopher on Mars had access only to TW's writings he would become firmly convinced that the relations between males and females were the sole problems confronting Earthlings. Nothing about art, science, literature, little about food, shelter and clothing, nothing about war, peace, strikes, famines, politics, governments.

Big Drive

Al lthat TW concerns himself with is the drive of the libido. He provides his characters with bars and bedrooms but otherwise they live in a vacuum, preoccupied with their primal urges.

In the novel under discussion the central character is a retired actress, a widow who has recently passed under what TW calls the moon of the pause.

Wealthy, she comes to Rome and rents a castle. Vain, she isolates herself from society because her beauty is fading. Lonely, she takes up with a greedy gigolo named Paolo. Another unnamed Italian youth, handsome and poorer than Paolo, follows her around Rome making obscene overtures to her.

That's the plot of the book. On this tenuous thread TW tries to explain the previous experiences which make Mrs. Stone the improbable creature she is and shows her struggle to retain her dignity before the rapacious assaults of aolo.

Censored

In the end she loses her dignity, self-respect, some of her money and Paolo. In despair at the emptiness of life she opens her door to the ragged youth whose idea of romance cannot be described in a family newspaper.

The book has been hailed as a work of art in some circles and it is true that William has a nice feel for words and considerable insight into neurotic motivation. But it adds up to nothing but a hymn of hopelessness.

If the world were as dreary a place as Tennessee Williams would have us believe, everyone would be busy with their concubines and gigolos and he would still be washing dishes in the Automat, for

Mobile GMC Truck Is School Room

Since last December four mobile
GMC Diesel truck service schools traveling throughout the United States and Canada have trained 740 Diesel truck mechanics—an extremely important asset in defense transportation—it was announced today by Mr. A. A.
Shantz, general parts and service manager for the GMC Truck &
Coach Division.

The program, which calls for 1,500 GMC Diesel mechanics and the establishment of 1,000 GMC Diesel Service Stations by the end of 1951, is ahead of schedule at the half-way point and may well go far past the original objectives,
Shantz said.

The Diesel mechanics trained include 462 GMC dealer personnel, 97 GMC company personnel and 135 trucking companies' personnel.
"The training of these Diesel mechanics will mean a great deal for the uninterrupted flow of vital defense materials by Diesel trucks throughout the nation," Shantz said. "The severe shortage of such mechanics may now be considered a thing of the past.
GMC Diesel truck operators may be confident that anywhere they go, they will find our network of service stations ready with trained personnel and an adequate stock of parts."

Shantz added that the enthusiastic reception which GMC has had for this training program also indicated that many operators intended to shift to Diesel operations as soon as feasible.

Circus Tops Them All

Presenting a distinguished international array of superior talent "tops them all," the new Islam Shrine-Palock Bros. will be presented at the Francisco Civic Auditorium Thursday, May 24, and running for 11 days and nights through Sunday, June 3.

Performances will be given daily at 3:00 and 8:15 school and at 2:15 and 8:15 Saturday.

urdays, Sundays and Memorial Day.

An entirely new lineup of animal acts consists of Jack Joyce with the world's only trained camels, Goldilocks and her bears, Pack's baby elephants, Armand's performing seals, Ostermaier's dressage horses and Arwoods' Acro K-9 Antics, a new-style dog act.

Aerial sensations include daring Don Dorsey on the high trapeze, the revolving Mandos Sisters from Belgium and startling teeth-suspension feats by the Sikorskis, in addition to the newly augmented Nine Ward-Bell Flyers in unprecedented triumphs of massed mid-air precision.

The program is further highlighted by Francis Brunn, the speediest juggler ever known; the Ibarra Brothers' amazing Latin-American horizontal bar experts; the Sing Lee Sings, Oriental gymnastic marvels; Melitta and Wicons, perch equilibrists; the

Fuss-Free Party Refreshments

By NANCY COOK-ANS

If you're planning a big party for a graduation celebration, remember that refreshments can be glamorous and easy at the same time. A big bowl of fruit punch or orange juice and plenty of luscious cake, served attractively, will make a real party. The cake-punch combination is especially "fuss-free" when you use the quick-frozen concentrate—for all you do is reliquify each little six-ounce can with three cans of cold water.

Cake for the crowd can be made in a "jiffy" with several packages of cake mix. Two packages of devil's food mix, put out by the makers of a famous cake flour, and one package of white cake mix that is part of the same line, will make six layers, and can be divided into two three-layer cakes, or three two-layer ones. This cake is not only easy to make; it is downy textured and so delicious to eat. Use any favorite frosting, chocolate or white, and you're all set for the big party.

MODERN AERIAL WARRIOR—Surrounded by a multitude of necessary instruments and himself superbly equipped for high-speed, high-altitude aerial combat, this jet fighter pilot (left) has a minimum of space for the charts by which he navigates his F-84 jet fighter and makes safe landings when his mission is completed. It's the job of the Aeronautical Chart Service to provide him with charts of the right kinds and sizes. Right, Flight Leader Capt. James Brooks explains to Wingman Lieut. Heckman the instrument let-down procedure at their destination. These jet pilots examine a new, experimental type of jet arrival let-down chart which provides all the information necessary for safe landings despite its modest size. Only 4 1/2 by 7 inches, it fits into the easily reached leg pocket of the pilot's flying suit, a great advantage in the limited space of a jet cockpit.

E. Bay Organizes Model Engineers

The Eastbay Model Engineers Society was organized in 1933 for the purpose of bringing together those whose common interest lay in scale model construction. In these early days, members of the club built scale power boats, stationary steam engines and gasolene powered airplanes as well as steam and electric types of railroad motive power, and freight and passenger rolling stock.

These craftsmen first held meetings in the machine shop of one member, in the homes of others, in the basement of an Oakland bookstore and later in the Western Pacific depot and Key System's Oakland offices.

Since 1937 Eastbay has been strictly a model railroad club and, following its incorporation in 1940, occupied its present quarters in the Santa Fe freight warehouse at 4075 Halleck Street, just south of Park Street in Emeryville.

During the past eleven years, two large rooms of trackage and scenery have been built by the more than 90 members of the club.

The "O" gauge layout (1/4" scale, 1 1/4" between the rails) is prototype steam and diesel powered and is the largest in area in the country. This property, the "Santa Fe Western Railway," has 2.29 scale miles of single and double tracked main line and 5 yards with 16.48 scale miles of sidings.

The "O" gauge trolley layout, the current for which is picked up through operating pantographs from overhead wire, is known as the "Oakland, Antioch & Eastern," has 3.7 scale miles of double tracked main line and 2.5 scale miles of yard trackage.

The club's newest and most picturesque property, the "O" gauge narrow-gauge (1/4" scale, 3/4" between rails), is called "The Rio Grande and South Park." Here the locomotives are wood and coal fired steam types and portray some types of the famous early day engines. They run on 2.5 scale miles of stub switches and crooked track in an atmosphere of realistic mountain railroading.

In a separate 90 by 36 foot room is the "HO" gauge layout (3.5 mm scale, 16.5 mm between the rails). This road, powered by prototype steam and diesel engines and known as "The Santa Fe Central," owns 8.35 scale miles of double and triple tracked main line, and yards equalling 13.16 scale miles.

The "HO" gauge electric trolley system, fed by overhead wire, is known as "Eastbay Traction Co." and has 2.5 scale miles of double tracked main line plus an unsurveyed amount of space devoted to yards.

Scenery, trackage, wiring and electrical facilities are constantly being changed, extended and improved. A model railroad pike is never completed. This points up the popular saying: "Model Railroading Is The Hobby That Goes Places."

Last but by no means least: All of the equipment operating on these roads is the personal property of the individual member. There are literally hundreds of interesting items, ranging in size from a 1 1/2" track foreman's "speeder" to the 13 car Daylight

Lombardi Auto Service Moves To New Building

Moving 50 feet into a new building this week is the Frank Lombardi Auto Service at 6498 Mission Street.

The one story, cinder brick building will replace the old service station which has almost come to be a Mission Street landmark.

Despite the change in appearance of the station, the fine service remains the same.

"Now that we are in a new building, our facilities to serve customers will be that much more improved," Lombardi said today.

The public is invited to inspect the new building at any time, Lombardi noted. He also reminded local residents that the station features 24 hour emergency road service.

THERE'S MUSIC IN THE AIR!—Thirty-two guest bandmasters are swinging their batons in conducting the Armed Forces four service bands in two concerts at Washington, D. C., March 8-10 during the seventeenth annual meeting of the American Bandmasters' Association. It will be the first time that concerts have been given by bands of the four branches of the service on the same program. The proceeds go to the Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and Airmen's Club. Leaders of the bands are: Marine, Maj. William F. Santelmann; Army, Capt. Hugh Curry; Navy, Lieut. Comdr. Charles Brendler; and Air Force, Lieut. Col. G. S. Howard. Dr. Edwin Franko Goldman is a former president and honorary life member of the association.

Danger In Drinking Unpasteurized Milk

MAY 17. (CNS) — Despite claims of those of an earlier generation that they and their fathers drank raw milk and were none the worse for it, there is danger in drinking milk which has not been pasteurized, the State Department of Health reported this week.

While medicine has made great strides in the past 50 years in stamping out disease, scientific treatment of milk has played an important part in this fight and milk-borne epidemics have been reduced.

This is shown in statistics gathered by the department which revealed 700 epidemics due to milk between the years 1895 to 1909, of which 179 were in the United States.

Milk-borne epidemics of disease reported in 1949 numbered 15 with 246 cases of disease but no deaths. This great decrease is due to consumption of pasteurized milk, the department believes.

California had many such epidemics during the 1920's. Department records show. In 1920 there were 65 cases of typhoid in bishop and 35 of dysentery in Berkeley due to raw milk.

Los Gatos had an outbreak of dysentery in 1922 and Westwood 42 cases of typhoid in 1924. Typhoid was prevalent in Benicia, Stockton, Orange county, Calico, Pleasanton, San Francisco, and Kern County during the next few years.

Some indication of the great strides made in eliminating this

Retail Sales Up 21 Per Cent

MAY 17. (CNS) — California ran up a total of $3,342,279,000 in taxable retail sales for the quarter ending September 30, 1950.

The announcement was made today by the State Board of Equalization, which has just completed compiling the detailed data on the sales for that quarter. "The total excludes food, and other commodities on which there is no sales tax."

The figures indicated that San Mateo county had 4,881 retail outlets at the end of the quarter, 2,863 of which were retail stores. Sales for the county during the quarter totaled $57,881,000, an increase of 21.03 per cent, according to the board's tabulation.

WHEEL ALIGNMENT

Correct wheel alignment is necessary for efficient car performance, says the California State Automobile Association. Faulty alignment results in extra tire wear and lower gas mileage as well as impairing the automobile's riding qualities.

Both the city and county of Merced were named for "River of Our Lady of Mercy," the Merced River.

disease is shown in the department report for the first quarter of this year which showed only 13 cases of typhoid for the entire state.

how wide will your child's world be?

... very wide and full of possibilities—if he is given the best education possible. But considerably smaller and less promising—if the best education possible is lacking.

And right now that lack is a threat to every child—the high school student of tomorrow. Presently Jefferson High can handle 900 students. There will be 1400 students by 1953. A new high school is a must.
